QUIET SURFACE HIDES JITTERY CAMPAIGN

7 Men, 5 Women Picked For Sheppard Trial Jury

12 Selected Today To Hear Murder Data

Prosecution Exercises Last Challenge; Sobbing Mother Given Dismissal

CLEVELAND (AP)—A jury of seven men and five housewives finally was agreed upon today to try Dr. Samuel Sheppard for the murder of his wife, Marilyn.

The trial opened Oct. 18 and it took more than eight full days in a tug of war between the state and the defense before, at 1:21 p. m. EST today, Defense Attorney William J. Corrigan told the court:

"We will pass."

Assistant Prosecutor John M. Mahon then passed for the state.

The state's last move was to dismiss a woman juror who had made a tearful plea to be excused.

Reversing an announcement yesterday it was "satisfied" with the Sheppard jury list, the prosecution pointed a challenging finger at Mrs. Genevieve A. Pelsey.

A jury of seven men and five women—the first time the males predominated—had been seated by the time the court recessed for lunch.

The latest replacements were real estate salesman James Roger Manning and Frank J. Kollarits, a chemical company clerk.

Mrs. Pelsey, a mother, had broken down sobbing, "I don't want to be on this case," when she looked Sheppard in the face Tuesday.

Assistant Prosecutor Thomas Parrino asked her today if she still felt the same way.

"Yes, sir," she replied.

So Parrino exercised his peremptory challenge.

When she left the courtroom today, reporters asked Mrs. Pelsey why she cried when she looked at Dr. Sheppard.

Bursting into tears again, she explained that she was "sympathetic" to the young osteopath. She told newsmen between sobs:

"I lost a 17-year-old son of my own. As I looked at Dr. Sheppard I realized I couldn't take that boy away from his mother."

During his questioning of Manning, Defense Attorney William Corrigan walked over, placed his hands on the shoulders of the defendant and asked:

"Do you look upon him as a man presumed to be innocent?"

Looking Sheppard squarely in the eyes, Manning said, "I do."

Corrigan said yesterday he plans to call on Dr. Charles W. Elkins of Phoenix, Ariz., formerly chief neurosurgeon at Lutheran Hospital here to "prove the extent of the injuries Sam Sheppard suffered at the hands of the man who killed his wife."

The defense lawyer said Elkins examined the 30-year-old Sheppard "a couple of days" after the osteopath's wife was found dead in her bed last July 4. Sheppard has insisted his wife was killed by a bushy-haired man who invaded their lakeshore home and knocked him unconscious when he tried to go to her aid.

On the afternoon of July 4, another medical doctor examined Sheppard at the direction of County Coroner Samuel R. Gerber. That doctor, Dr. Richard Hexter, later testified at a coroner's inquest that a black eye just about summed up the injuries he found.

Ike Books Quick Trip To Ohio, Other States For Political Speeches

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower puts to the acid test tomorrow his ability to stir up the voters and to win support for Republican candidates.

The White House announced last night that Eisenhower will take off tomorrow on a one-day flying campaign trip to Cleveland, Detroit, Louisville and Wilmington, Del., in that order.

The GOP National Committee's choice of the four cities was regarded here as indicating mixed hopes and fears of party officials about next Tuesday's election. All four states have closely-fought Senate races.

In Cleveland, Eisenhower will be trying to aid Republican Rep. George H. Bender, who is opposing Democratic Sen. Thomas A. Burke in a state that Eisenhower carried by a half million votes in 1952.

Republicans have been pinning large hopes on Bender's regaining the Ohio seat that Burke was appointed to fill after the death of Republican Sen. Robert A. Taft.

Eisenhower's visit to Cleveland has been termed "desperation tactics" by Burke.

"Of course, Ike is not running for senator, but I'm sure a great many Republicans wish that he were," Burke declared.

Bender said Eisenhower promised him last May he would make a campaign trip to Ohio.

"I had every confidence he would keep his word," Bender said.

Ray C. Bliss, Republican Ohio state chairman, said the Cleveland airport gathering will be primarily for party workers, but would also be open to the public.

Bliss went to Cleveland last night to map plans with members of his staff and representatives of the GOP National Committee.

The President is expected to arrive at Cleveland Hopkins Airport around 9 a. m. He will remain about an hour.

Eisenhower's quick trip will follow close on the heels of his radio-television talk here tonight at a campaign rally staged by the Citizens for Eisenhower congressional organization. Mrs. Eisenhower will accompany him to the rally. The speech will be carried by NBC television and radio and by ABC radio. It is scheduled for 9:30 p. m.

Tonight's speech has been billed as an effort to arouse in the battle for control of Congress, to be decided at the polls next Tuesday, some of the "crusade" spirit of the 1952 Presidential campaign.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty announced that on tomorrow's trip the President will speak to airport crowds at each stop, with Republican candidates on hand.

Eisenhower told his news conference yesterday his chief objective will be to dramatize his desire to see everybody vote in next Tuesday's election.

But the selection of the sites by the Republican National Committee and its financial sponsorship of the tour indicated party officials expect him to come close to the kind of barnstorming in which the President said last April 29 he would not engage.

Eisenhower told newsmen he was puzzled by reports of apathy among the voters who might not share his belief about the importance of the election.

Ohio Governor Candidates Step Up Their Campaigns

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio's gubernatorial campaign is bringing more hard-hitting speeches as Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche and his Republican opponent, James A. Rhodes, sought to leave good impressions as election day neared.

Lausche says Ohio during his four administrations has made giant strides in mental health and in a multitude of other fields.

"There are nine receiving mental hospitals now against none when I took office," he told the Hamilton County Democratic War Veterans Club last night. "We have 22 clinics where mental patients can go for treatment. State employes in this field have increased in just a few years from 2,700 to 8,400. But we still have much yet to do in this field.

"And it will be done."

The Democratic chief executive ticked off a list of fields in which he said the state had made great progress:

Conservation, stream purification, highway safety, strip mine legislation, public welfare and poor relief, workmen's compensation, liquor control, education, state parks, lakes and recreation acres and anti-gambling and anti-racketeering measures.

Here's what he had to say on a variety of topics:

Stream purification — An anti-pollution law passed by the General Assembly is helping to lick the problem, but a complete halt must be made to the dumping into creeks, rivers and lakes of "Poisonous wastes, raw sewage and other obnoxious stuff."

Race tracks—"The track operators have got to be brought down to earth. My fight with them is not finished.

Highways — The state let highway contracts totaling $301 million in 1953 and would sign contracts for $154 million by the end of the year. "Does that sound like we're neglecting highways?"

State expenditures — "If anything, we have kept expenses too low in this state, and still we are showing astonishing results and progress."

Last night, Rhodes asserted that Lausche is destroying the Democratic party in Ohio by gathering too much power to himself.

Rhodes claimed Lausche has been reelected at the "expense of other candidates on the state Democratic ticket."

He claimed the present Democratic state chairman, Eugene Hanhart of Dover, was elected after state Democrats received an ultimatum from Lausche that he would recognize no one else.

"Is it not well established that the integrity of our form of government depends upon a two-party system—free of bossism and dictation—parties regulated by laws and the free choice of county chairmen and central committeemen?" Rhodes asked.

Benson Lauds Passage Of Flexible Plan

COLUMBUS (AP)—Flexible farm price supports had been favored by both parties since 1948, but it was the 83rd Congress which had the courage to legislate the action, Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson said here yesterday.

Benson stopped here enroute to Kansas. He conferred with state farm leaders and Republican congressional candidates.

He said the flexible farm price support program adopted by the Eisenhower administration and the 83rd Congress will not go into effect until the 1955 crop season.

This principle was favored by every agricultural secretary in the past 20 years, by President Truman and both parties, Benson said but "we haven't before had the courage to take the step to put it in operation."

"I think farmers overwhelmingly accept flexible supports. It's time to get back to a peacetime program.

"Farmers don't like controls and we don't like them either. I would like to eliminate all controls, and that's our objective."

He said less than 15 per cent of the farm income in Ohio is from supported basic commodities. He figures Ohio farm income to be $487 million for the first six months of 1954 compared with $479 million for the same period in 1953.

He said "if there has been a price decline, it has been under the old program."

McCarthy Urging GOP 'Close Ranks'

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis) said Republicans should forget their differences, "close ranks" and "concentrate on the election of a Republican Congress."

McCarthy made the statement in a letter to William Randolph Hearts Jr., publisher of the New York Journal-American, who queried the senator concerning reports that thousands of his followers would stay away from the polls Nov. 2 or support Democrats as a result of some GOP leaders' attitudes toward McCarthy's methods.

166 Amish Parents Defy School Order

MILLERSBURG (AP) — Holmes County school officials have ordered 166 Amish parents to send their children to school or face a jail sentence. The Amish religious sect is a branch of the Mennonites, an order which advocates scriptural authority and aloofness from state.

County School Superintendent D. C. Egger said the Amish families object to sending their children past the eighth grade. He said of the 166 warnings, some 150 families have not yet complied.

Egger said school officials had been lenient with the Amish issue in the past, but recently decided to be more strict.

Earlier this week, five Amish farmers were found guilty of refusing to provide education for their children. Juvenile Judge Hoy Russell set fines at $300 each and 30 days in jail but suspended action for 30 days to see if the children, aged 14 to 16, would be enrolled in school.

Egger said other cases are expected to start next week.

The five parents were John D. Yoder, Noah J. Miller, David Schlabach, Monroe Weaver and William Detwiler, all of this area.

Hunters, Age 5, Bag Pheasant

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — A pair of 5-year-old boys, armed with a broken toy shotgun, crowed happily over their hunting trophy—a live but dejected pheasant peering from an improvised coop.

The hunters, Jerry Lee Peck and Brian Maynard, surprised their parents when they brought home the bird, clutched in Jerry's arms.

The boys stoutly insist, "We shot it with our gun." Neither family has been able to solve the riddle.

Italian Flood Toll May Reach 400

SALERNO, Italy (AP)—The wreckage of towns along the ravaged Gulf of Salerno gave up still more bodies today and the final death toll from Italy's greatest flood disaster was expected to reach 400.

The known dead numbered 288 this morning when seven more bodies were dug from wrecked homes at Molina di Vietri and Ponte Romano.

Hope was abandoned for many of the 200 or more persons listed as missing. It was believed many were swept out to sea or buried beneath their broken stone homes.

State funeral services were held in Salerno's cathedral today for victims of the flash floods and land slides which hit a 10-mile stretch of shoreline late Monday.

C. H. May Recalls 24 Years Served On School Board

Veteran Circleville Attorney Backs Bond Issue; Declares Schools Second Only To Churches

A Circleville attorney who, for nearly a quarter-century in "the old days" served as a member of the city board of education, called Thursday for wholehearted public support behind the proposed school bond issue.

Charles H. May, prominent community leader, pointed out that the funds to be raised by the bond issue "are essential for the growth and development of one of the most precious parts of any community—its school system." May is well qualified to speak on Circleville's schools, having served as a member of the school board from 1917 until 1941.

During all but four years of that 24-year span, he was president of the board. While stressing that he has not had an opportunity to make a close study of current problems faced by the school system, May declared there is no doubt about the merits in the bond issue's general purpose.

"I am not closely familiar with all the obstacles they have at this particular time," he said, "but I am glad to endorse the bond issue because it represents the spirit of looking forward. And those in control of a community's school system must always do that.

* * *

"THE MONEY will be for an extremely important cause, and it can't be raised in any other way. There was a time, I recall, when we made little improvements here and there by skimping a bit and using a bit of the tax money.

"But the times when you could do that are gone now, and we must all remember that. Operation of our schools has grown to be too big a job for such methods. Large amounts of money are needed."

May ranked schools second only to churches in the topmost assets of a growing community. Good hospital service, he added, can be considered third.

Any community's fire department must also be highly rated, May said, in turning briefly to the fire protection levy proposed for Circleville. The fire levy, along with the school bond issue and the school operating levy, up for renewal, will be placed before the voters here in next Tuesday's balloting.

"You can certainly say that the fire levy is every bit as worthy as the school bond issue," the attorney said. "Every community needs an up-to-date fire department, not only to hold down the fire insurance rate, but also because we all know that a fire department—when it is needed—is needed in a hurry."

First major project to be undertaken after May became a member of the school board was to plan construction of a new high school building and a new structure for Corwin grade school.

* * *

THE NEW high school building was erected a short distance west of Old Everts High School, built in the 1870's. Construction of the new quarters for the high school students begin to signal the end of the "Old Everts era", revered in memory by many residents of the district.

Also during May's time as a member of the board, the high school building was joined to the Corwin Street structure. All of the other elementary schools were operating at that time with the exception of Atwater School.

To finance the school expansion program which began to get under way at the close of World War I, May recalled:

"We had a $130,000 bond issue, and it was passed with very little difficulty. The people were all for it, even though that amount of money meant a lot in those days."

GOP Challenging Harriman's Role

NEW YORK (AP) — The Republicans have challenged Democratic candidate Averell Harriman's eligibility to serve as governor, if elected. Retiring GOP Gov. Thomas E. Dewey said last night it is up to "the courts to decide" if Harriman lost his eligibility by voting two years ago in a Washington, D. C. primary.

Harriman, who is opposing Republican Sen. Irving M. Ives, claims his primary vote was as informal "as a vote for your favorite baseball player" and did not impair the legality of his New York residence or his right to hold office there.

District Voters Share Apathy Across Nation

But Party Workers Know Late Break Can Upset Plans

On the surface, at least, the yawning attitude among voters toward next Tuesday's balloting, a lukewarm interest reported from many sections of the nation, continued to prevail Thursday in Pickaway County.

But few if any party workers were willing to say how strong the tides were running beneath. Or what the chances were of a last minute development turning some of the local races into last-minute, vote-grabbing tussles.

Veteran political leaders for the district were dashing off their usual predictions along strict party lines—in public. But most of them, long trained to respect the "silent voter", were willing to speculate in the quiet huddles of Circleville's city hall and Pickaway County courthouse.

The "silent voter", they knew, could become an extremely noisy customer before the final tabulations are in next Tuesday.

* * *

THEY WERE aware too that the jittery days are at hand—the few remaining before the voters go to the polls. A late development or two now could inject high fever into an otherwise quiet election, and only the reckless indeed would wager that this will not happen.

For the time being, however, party workers were content to pretend that the rumbling scene was still going quietly about its business, keeping their fingers crossed on one hand and trying to buttonhole prospective voters with the other.

Befitting the Halloween season, the party regulars were whistling among the tombstones—some for a news break "that could blow the roof off city hall", and others for the lid to hold tight over the touchy spots at least until the votes are counted.

Proposed amendments to the state constitution appeared to be drawing little attention from the district electorate, far less in fact than the several issues to be placed before voters in some of the smaller subdivisions.

Only in reference to the three top issues for the Circleville area was there any degree of anxiety showing on the surface.

The proposed bond issue to finance a long-range school building program in the city appeared to be gaining strength in steady stride, thanks to a well-organized promotion campaign which got under way early and continues to have the benefit of enthusiastic leadership.

* * *

TAGGING ALONG with the bright chances seen for the bond issue was the school operating levy, sharing in the same optimism.

The past few days have also brought a brighter outlook for the fire protection levy, which would raise about $45,000 to buy a new city fire truck and pay the salaries of additional firemen. Endorsement by the Chamber of Commerce and the Circleville Kiwanis Club, announced Wednesday, seemed to provide a timely shot in the arm for a cause that appeared to get away to a sluggish start.

Individual community leaders were beginning to voice support for the levy, and Fire Chief Talmer Wise's appeal for more public support was expected to draw other organized groups into the fold before the voting starts.

It was becoming increasingly apparent that most of the civic and social groups on record for the school bond issue had not intentionally ignored the fire levy. In a number of cases they indicated steps were under way to hurry last-minute endorsement for the fire levy as well.

As always, the voting prepara-

Freak Explosion Kills 3 Firemen

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Three fire department officers were killed and 24 other firemen and policemen injured today in an explosion at a North Philadelphia chemical manufacturing plant.

The violent blast, without any fire, occurred minutes after a telephoned warning summoned the fire company to investigate the source of escaping fumes.

A 15-foot-high steel tank mounted on a wooden platform in one corner of the yard exploded without warning as firemen searched for the source of the fumes. The explosion slammed the firemen and policemen with terrific force against two brick walls enclosing the area.

Remodeled Store Plans Sales Event

The Murphy store at 101-3 W. Main Street, will hold a two day sales event Friday and Saturday in conjunction with the modernizing and enlarging of the store that has been completed.

The store interior has been revamped and many space saver counters and displays have been installed on the sales floor to provide a more efficient service. The new fixtures have increased the selling space approximately 38 per cent, thus enabling the store to offer a more extensive line and assortment of merchandise.

Manager D. D. Henkle said, "The Murphy Company has always been anxious to offer better service-better stores. We are sincere in believing that the citizens of Circleville and vicinity are as proud of our newly equipped store as we are. To celebrate our official opening, we are staging a mammoth store wide sales event, with exceptional values in every department.

The opening of the remodeled Murphy store will be under the supervision of G. B. Shaw, district manager, and D. D. Henkle, store manager.

Adertisements carrying details of the opening and the unusual values will be found elsewhere in this paper.

SHOWN ABOVE is the type of fire pumper the city of Circleville will be able to purchase if voters next Tuesday approve the fire protection levy. In addition to the truck purchase, the levy would also provide funds for the hiring of two additional firemen. The pumper shown is of the 750-1,000 gallon class. Instead of the apparatus illustrated, the city would be able to purchase a combination pumper-aerial ladder truck if preferred. The pumper shown is manufactured by the Seagrave Corp., but city officials emphasized that no decisions of any sort can be made in reference to new equipment until voters approve the levy.

Legion In Favor Of Fire Proposal

Public support for the fire protection levy proposed for Circleville continued to gain momentum Thursday with the announcement that it has the endorsement of the local American Legion.

Commander Bob Liston of Hall-Adkins Post said the Legion had voted "100 percent" in favor of the levy, which would provide funds for modern fire apparatus and to pay the salaries of additional firemen.

Coming on the heels of similar announcements by the Chamber of Commerce and the Circleville Kiwanis Club, the Legionnaire backing caused prospects for the levy to climb sharply.

Fire Chief Talmer Wise, who recently opened a series of appeals for more public support behind the levy, said he felt confident other organizations would likewise give it official approval before the voters go to the polls next Tuesday. If the voters approve the levy, approximately $45,000 will become available for the fire department improvements.

Boost School Issue

Latest organization to announce support for Circleville's school bond issue is the American Legion. Bob Liston, commander of the local Legionnaires, said they are for the bond issue and the school operating levy "100 percent."

Letter To The Editor

The Circleville Herald encourages letters to the editor on pertinent subjects of local interest. However, unsigned letters will be disregarded. Nom de plume will be used if requested.

Editor, The Herald:

Did I hear someone say we needed more policemen in this town? No, we don't need more, we just need some to carry out their duty. Then we would have enough.

Wednesday night someone tried to break into my house. I screamed, ran to the phone, and called the police. They came in about fifteen minutes, asked me if everything was all right, didn't bother to look around the house or anything else.

My husband was doing his duty, working for the J. C.'s trying to better the town. I asked the police if one would stay with me while the other one went to get my husband. Do you know what they said, well I quote: "I'm sorry madam, but we have to ride in the parade, but we will go and tell your husband," end of quote.

Do you call that police protection? Well if you do I'm sorry I can't see eye to eye with you.

By the way, our neighbor's house was broken into the same night probably while the police were talking to me.

I think the only reason we have policemen in this town is so they can ride in the parades every Pumpkin Show to show off their uniforms. If some of them would stop to think why they are wearing their uniforms, this town would be better protected. Don't you agree with me?

Truck-Trailer Overturns As Two Are Hurt

A huge grocery truck-trailer overturned one mile north of Derby Wednesday afternoon.

The driver and a passenger were injured and taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital in Columbus. Lester Larrison, 44, of Columbus, the driver, received a laceration on the top of his head. William Allison, 55, suffered a back injury.

Deputy Sheriff Dwight Radcliff reported the truck, traveling north on Route 62, attempted to pass a farm tractor. In doing so, Larrison suddenly noticed a south-bound car bearing down.

Larrison, in order to avoid a collision with either vehicle, ran the truck-trailer off the highway. The accident scene was at the intersection of Route 3.

THE TRUCK-TRAILER, carrying between 25,000 and 28,000 pounds of produce, later caught fire but the blaze was extinguished quickly.

Mt. Sterling police aided Deputy Radcliff and Special Deputy Bill Stout in directing traffic, a chore which took nearly six hours.

Friends may call in the chapel after Friday noon.

Death Of Man Ruled Natural By Coroner

A 43-year old man, found dead Wednesday afternoon in an Orient Route 2 home, died from natural causes, according to a ruling by Pickaway County Coroner Dr. Ray Carroll.

Albert W. Foreman, a crippled World War 11 veteran, was discovered on a bed in the home in which he had been staying. Mrs. A. Ehman's found his body at 4:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Foreman had worked for Mrs. Ehman's husband, Aden, before the war. He received shrapnel wounds to his spine and spent considerable time in a hospital.

His injuries caused Foreman to be paralized and he returned to the Ehman home to stay following his discharge from the hospital.

* * *

MRS. EHMAN said Foreman complained of indigestion a day ago and took medicine for releaf.

She apparently was the last one to see him alive, according to the report made by Deputy Sheriff Carl Radcliff.

Mrs. Ehman told the deputy Foreman had asked her to close the slide on his door. That was at 3:30 p m., she recalled.

Foreman's body was taken to the Norris Funeral Home in Grove City where Dr. Carroll made his ruling.

Court Action Curbs State Racing Panel

Commission Attempts To Rule Man Off Tracks In Ohio

COLUMBUS (AP)—Chairman Zoltan Gombos said yesterday court action prevents the Ohio Racing Commission from ruling Henry Green of Shaker Heights off race tracks in the state.

Green is vice president of Ohio Sports Enterprises, Inc., that operates a track at Hamilton. Green also is connected with other Ohio tracks.

The commission recently ended hearings on charges that Green barred a track inspector from a mutuel room at Hamilton where daily double bets were tabulated.

Before the commission could reach a decision, counsel for Green obtained an order from the Second District Court of Appeals temporarily blocking commission action against Green.

The court directed the commission "to show cause" by Nov. 13 why a writ of prohibition should not be issued to prevent any action against Green.

Paul M. Herbert of Columbus, counsel for Green, contended the commission lacked power to enforce penalties. He said the Administrative Procedures Act, which controls operations of governmental agencies, requires specific authority for agencies to impose penalties. He said the statute reads:

"No adjudication order of any agency shall be valid unless said agency is specifically authorized by law to make such order."

Herbert contended the commission lacks specific statutory authority to enforce penalties except issuance or denial of track permits.

Gombos expressed concern over the attack on the commission's power to enforce its penalties.

Thomas R. Lloyd, assistant Ohio attorney general, said the commission's power previously had been challenged but never decided in court.

The commission adopted this statement:

"After consideration of the testimony brought out at two recent public hearings, the Ohio State Racing Commission informally agreed that Henry Green, vice president of Ohio Sports Enterprises Inc., should be barred from the turf in Ohio.

"However, in deference to the Second District Court of Appeals, in which an action in prohibition is presently pending, seeking to prohibit any action by the commission in the Green case, no formal action was taken by the commission . . . .

"The commission also discussed the question whether the act committed by Henry Green was also an act of the corporation conducting race meetings at Hamilton, Ohio, and whether any action should be taken against the corporation of which Green is vice president."

All three commission members approved the statement. A fourth seat on the commission is vacant.

Pin-Ball Gadget Cited In Divorces

TOKYO (AP) — Japan's pin-ball craze—it's called "pachinko" here—has hit the divorce courts.

The game has been named "co-respondent" in eight divorce cases this year by Japanese husbands and wives who complained their mates spent too much time—and money—at it.

'Big Steel' Expects '55 To Be Better

NEW YORK (AP) — Benjamin F. Fairless, board chairman of United States Steel Corp. believes the nation's economy will be more prosperous in 1955 than this year.

For the steel industry he predicts "a good year, a better steel year than 1954."

He said reduction of steel inventories in the current year has been responsible for the lower operating rate but that this process should work in reverse next year.

At present, he said, steel inventories of the automobile companies are too low to produce the forthcoming new models. He added this condition is "quite general."

Fairless expressed his opinions after the board of directors of the world's biggest steel producer declared recently the usual dividend of 75 cents a share on common stock payable Dec. 10 to holders of record Nov. 5.

The company, maker of a third of the nation's steel, reported third quarter earnings of $44,323,860, equal to $1.4 a share, compared with $49,020 738, or $1.63 a share for the second quarter, and $61,706,264, or $2.12 a share for the third quarter of last year, a record-breaking year both for U. S. Steel and the entire American steelmaking industry.

The nine months earnings were $138,174,974, or $4.55 a share, compared with $166,723,028, or $5.66 a share for the like period last year.

The 1954 nine months' net represented a return of 5.7 per cent on sales, exactly the same return as for the like period of '53.

Bout For Prince Charles Canceled

LONDON (AP)— Maybe Buckingham Palace figures Prince Charles needs a couple of warmup fights before they toss him in there with that fleaweight champion from America.

Anyway, a scheduled boxing bout at the palace today between the prince, who is almost 6, and Stephen Rutter, who already is, has been canceled.

"I had a call from the palace to tell me that Stephen would not be needed," said the Yank battler's father, Peter, who is second secretary at the U.S. Embassy. "I don't know why."

The Duke of Edinburgh, polo-playing husband of Queen Elizabet II and father of the prince, reportedly decided the future king should learn to box.

Hal Boyle Says:

Hungry Writers Do Better

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — "I have a morbid interest in money," confessed George Axelrod who wrote in 60 hours a Broadway play he says will earn him $1 million.

For the actual time he spent at the typewriter in turning out "The Seven Year Itch," this comes to $16,666.66 an hour.

Axelrod, who is 32, wears a crew cut, and looks like a fugitive Princeton freshman, thinks this would be a fair rate of pay for a writer if he got to keep the money.

But of course, he doesn't. Today it may take more time to figure out the income tax on a hit play than it does to write it.

"You work for years and starve," said George wryly, "and then when you hit the big loot they take it away.

"Money is no longer enough. A writer needs some new kind of payment that can't be taken away, such as a guarantee your golf score will improve. Or they might promise to add two years to your life or, in my case, agree to find a way to make my front teeth come together."

But until something better does come along Axelrod has decided money is about the best all-around substitute.

"Writing doesn't count unless you get paid for it," he said. "I can't even write a letter to my son now unless he promises to send me a buck for it.

"Art is a byproduct of writing for money. Shakespeare wrote because he needed dough. You always write better when you're hungry.

"It's much harder to write unless you have to do it to meet bills. This is still no problem on me. I always manage to have a few bills that need paying.

"But if you get good money, you've got to do a good job to earn it. I hate the guys who go to Hollywood with the loot-and-scoot idea, who grab all the big dough they can, do nothing, and then leave town complaining it's impossible to do creative work in the Hollywood atmosphere.

"I loved Hollywood. I had myself a real ball out there."

At 18, "after being thrown out of most of the good schools in the East," George became a bit actor on Broadway, confined to lines such as "Madam, Dinner is Served."

"I was a horrible actor, but I wanted to learn stage techniques," he said. "I knew that at 18 I couldn't write anything that people would pay $4.40 to see."

At 20 George watched the rehearsal of a radio show, then went home and turned out a script for one himself and sold it for $150.

"Since then I've turned out between 500 and 600 radio and TV shows," he said, "written two novels, and turned out gags and comedy sketches for Martin and Lewis, Peter Lind Hayes, Robert Q. Lewis, and many others.

"I was an Army private for three years, digging holes for telephone poles for the Signal Corps in Europe. When I got out I had two really lean years before things turned better."

It was at his wife's insistence that Axelford wrote "The Seven Year Itch" in 1952. He did it in 15 four-hour sessions at the typewriter.

"After four hours I just pooh-ed out," he said.

Today George gets $75,000 for a movie script, double that amount if he furnishes the plot, too. He is currently polishing up a new musical, "The Rogers and Hart Songbook," and hopes to write "five or six of the greatest plays in the history of the world," then become a producer.

"There comes a time when you can't do it anymore," he said. "It happens to every writer. He wears out. Or at least he gets to the point where what he writes no longer pleases himself, and then the money alone isn't enough. It's time to quit.

"How can you tell? Well, it's the 17th morning in a row that nothing happens. That is the big fear in every writer—the awful morning when he knows he has nothing more to say."

Nonstop Oratory Record Is Sought

OLDHAM, England (AP) — Kevin Sheehan claimed a world record for nonstop oratory today. He has been talking continuously since Monday morning.

Rambling hoarsely toward his goal of 127 hours, the 25-year-old Irish babbler was already well beyond what he said was the previous mark of 36 hours—"held by some Russian."

Sheehan is holding forth in a local ballroom.

He reported to newsmen:

"I am suffering from headaches and swollen glands but I am going to carry on until my record is unbeatable."

His topic: "The Uncanny Things of Life."

Marion Firm Buys Bucyrus Company

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Co., a Columbus investment firm, announced an agreement in which the Huber Mfg. Co. of Marion would acquire controlling interest in the W. A. Riddell Corp. of Bucyrus.

The negotiations were handled through Ewing T. Boles, president of the Ohio Co. Boles is a director of both Huber and Riddell.

The two companies agreed to "explore the desirability of a tax-free plan of exchange of stock."

Huber manufactures road rollers, graders and maintainers and Riddell produces motor graders.

A CIVIC DUTY—

In the past, the Circleville community has loyally supported its schools. Our citizens have been proud of their schools and have shown interest in providing their boys and girls with good educational opportunities.

We are confident that they again will register their support at the polls on November 2.

The school bond issue comes to you after careful thought and study by the Board of Education, members of the staff and citizen groups. We regard it as a "MUST" in maintaining an educational program that will meet with your approval.

Most Circleville people, we feel sure, are for this school improvement. But being for it isn't enough in meeting your CIVIC DUTY.

Only VOTES FOR on November 2 will count!

C. H. May Tells Of Years On School Board

For a relatively long period later in his tensure as a school board member, May said the city enrollment showed only a small annual increase. Approximately 1,500 pupils were enrolled during each of the years leading up to 1940.

However, the present city school enrollment is 2,384 and May pointed to the fact that the rate of increase has been especially noticeable during recent years. This, plus all the signs of continued growth in Circleville, he said, gives ample justification for the steps represented by the bond issue proposal.

* * *

"CIRCLEVILLE is having a healthy growth," he said. "It isn't a boom, but it is a healthy and substantial growth. And our schools must grow with the city. We must accept the fact."

May warned than even the pending bond ussue cannot be expected to meet the needs of the school system over a long period of time if the city continues to grow at its present rate.

"All things cost money," he said, "and we must, as a city, be ready to make some sacrifices in order to have the things we need so much Second only to our churches are the schools, in the scale of community values.

"I am not in position to judge details of the building program outlined for the school system during the years immediately ahead. Perhaps, in addition to what they (school officials) see in the way of immediate needs, they are planning a little ahead of our time.

"But most certainly that is what they should always do.

"I never had the pleasure of knowing Mr. Hartman (George Hartman, superintendent of city schools) before he came to Circleville, but he seems to be a fine man. And all reports indicate he is doing a good job."

* * *

MAY DECLINED to comment specifically on the current salary scales paid city teachers, but he emphasized that "school teachers and the other educators are among the most important people in our community, and they deserve to be paid a scale commensurate with the current average in similar professions."

In reference to the bond issue, he especially noted that the cost of labor and materials has climbed steadily since "the old days" of the school system. And he warned that voters, in weighing the merits of the bond issue, must not be misled into measuring the present planning alongside the expenditures deemed sufficient in the past.

"I remember how a superintendent in my time got about $1,800 a year," he said. "And some teachers were paid about $750. I myself taught for two years and received $40 a month for nine months, and walked eight miles each day, going to and returning from school!

"Furthermore, I had to build the fires and cleaned out the rooms, too!

"But all of that is of a bygone time. And we must adjust ourselves, and our way thinking to the changing years. Everything costs much more now. We get more for services and for products, and we live on a higher level.

"It's true I know some may feel that some of the modern ways in education are largely unnecessary. In our day we had crowded classrooms, often an entire class in the one room—whereas now the trend is toward larger rooms, small class groups, and more specialized methods all around.

* * *

"BUT THIS change over the years has been all for the better. As a metter of fact, I feel that in some respects education still isn't specialized enough.

"Modern educational methods have proven themselves. They produce better results.

"All of us, now and then, like to live a little in the past. It's a natural thing to do. But for our schools, especially, we must always look ahead—and work toward what we feel will be better standards for the future."

BUC Reminds Employers On Reports Due

Pickaway County employers who have not yet sent in their contribution reports and remittances for the third quarter have been given a "last call" reminder by the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation. The third quarter ended Sept. 30.

Under Ohio law, the due date for such reports and remittances is the last day of the calendar quarter, but employers are given until the end of the following month (Oct. 31) to comply with the law's provisions and thus avoid the payment of penalties and interest charges.

Ernest Cornell BUC administrator, said that any employer who is not sure whether he is liable under the law for the payment of contributions should write to the BUC's Contribution Department to determine his liability status.

Cornell said that with certain specified exceptions, the law covers any employer who has three individuals on his payroll on any one day. When he first becomes liable by hiring three or more workers, Cornell said, his liability goes back to the beginning day of the calendar quarter in which three workers first were hired, and continues throughout the remaining quarters of the calendar year and all of the succeeding calendar year as well.

After incurring liability, every employer remains liable even though he ceases to employ as many as three workers. He must continue to make contribution reports and pay taxes on all taxable wages received by his remaining employees for the rest of the year and the succeeding year, Cornell said.

Company Bought

CLEVELAND (AP)—The F. C. Russell Co. has purchased the Prime Window Division of the Hunter Manufacturing Co., a Bristol, Pa., concern. The Russell firm said the new operatior would be moved to its aluminum manufacturing plant at Cambridge.

Why VITAMINS?

Vitamins are indispensable to the proper utilization of foods so that the body may have energy for work and be able to keep the various organs and tissues in a healthy state. Vitamins are necessary for normal growth of children and for continued health and vigor of persons of all ages.

Modern processing of foods often removes vitamins, particularly the vitamin B complex. Storage and transportation also decrease the vitamin content of many foods.

In view of the difficulty which often arises in supplying an adequate intake of vitamins in the usual diet, administration of essential vitamins is frequently highly desirable. However, the infant, the teen-ager, the adult, the person recovering from illness, and the woman expecting a baby have different vitamin needs and no one product fits them all. Few adults know their vitamins well enough to select them properly, so they wisely rely upon their physician or their pharmacist to advise them or to supply them with exactly the product they need. In vitamins, as in all matters affecting your health, there is no substitute for professional guidance.

CONTAMINATED WHEAT?

CHARGES HAVE been made in Los Angeles that contaminated Kansas wheat is mixed with good wheat and processed in violation of the pure food laws and despite state inspection. Vigorous denials have emanated from Kansas, but they have the earmarks of being tainted by state pride and fear that if the charges are proved true there may be a further reduction in use of flour.

It is a fact that the milling industry is constantly on guard against insanitary practices. State and federal governments have hundreds of inspectors who are presumed to be the epitome of vigilant alertness. The milling industry has called a sanitation conference in Kansas City to discuss new techniques to insure maximum sanitation in grain and its products.

Wheat has been one of the victims of changing dietary customs in America. Per capita consumption is considerably smaller than it was at the beginning of this century. That is one reason why surplus wheat in government storage nears the one billion-bushel mark.

This surplus could result in contaminated wheat reaching the market. Storage facilities are not of the best, and in the past wheat was seldom held in storage for several years.

LESSON IN SAFETY

LOS ANGELES has given a demonstration in traffic safety which could be adopted by other cities as a pattern for future safety drives.

In 1938 Los Angeles had the worst traffic record in the nation. That year 472 persons died on the city's streets as the result of traffic accidents. Chances of being killed were two and one-half times as great as in any other city.

Then came the change that made streets in Los Angeles the safest of any in the country. Joseph M. Kaplan, manager of the Greater Los Angeles Safety Council, tells how this was brought about.

Instead of depending on police and safety officials to get the job done it was made the obligation of the entire community. It became an attitude of mind on the part of motorists generally. As a result Los Angeles last year won the Natoinal Safety Council's grand award for traffic safety.

Traffic safety still needs leadership and of the highest capacity. But it must have complete cooperation on the part of motorists, who think safety when they are behind the wheel. There can be no competition for the motorist's attention when the business of saving lives is involved.

The Chicago flood came on the 83rd anniversary of the fire started when Mrs. O'Leary's cow kicked over the lantern, which was a bit too late to assist in putting out the blaze.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

A new term has come into international politics, Enosis, and it means the transference of allegiance of a people on an ethnical basis.

Self-determination usually has a connotation of separation, of the establishing of a new country, as, for instance, Finland separating from Russia, but enosis does not demand separation. Cyprus is now British; the enosis movement in Cyprus calls not for freedom but for shifting that island from Great Britain to Greece because most of the people are Greeks.

The minority are Turks, but some Cypriots, while regarding themselves as Greeks, are probably of Turkish origin. Who can tell what is the ethnic origin of anyone in the Mediterranean melting pot? In reality, the basis for enosis in Cyprus is not ethnical but religious.

Those who belong to the Greek Orthodox Church consider themselves Greeks whether their ancestors were Turkish, Syrian or Egyptian. Those who are Moslem are accepted as Turks.

The Communists, who are very numerous, are mostly Greeks. It is the Communist factor in this situation that makes the government of Greece less than enthusiastic about the transference of title to the island, although it would be politically inadvisable for it not to give the impression of desiring that all Greeks should be affiliated with Greece. Greece does not want more Communists then she already has.

Geographically, Cyprus lies off the coast of Turkey and Syria. Its possessor could bottle up the whole of southern and eastern Turkey's outlets on the Mediterranean. In the present relations between Greece and Turkey, it is unfortunate that the question of Cyprus should be raised, but the Kremlin thinks of everything. The master-minds of confusion will do anything to embarrass Turkey.

The nature of the enosis movement may be judged by the following paragraph from a clandestine broadcast station, Free Greece, delivered on August 4:

"It is clear to the people of Cyprus and Greece that the treacherous policy of Papagos and the whole Americanocracy on the Cyprus issue encouraged the English colonists and imperialists. It is apparent that the whole exploitation of the Cyprus question by the Marshal was directed at hiding his treachery to Cyprus. The Rally, which converted the whole of Greece into an American Cyprus, can only repretrate (sic) (possibly means perpetrate) treacheries with regard to the Cyprus issue."

Cyprus, the third largest island in the Mediterranean, has had a long history of the mingling of peoples, going back some 5,000 years. It has been held by Phoenicians, Assyrians, Egyptians, Persians, Greeks, the Romans, Venice, the Turks and, since 1878, by the British, although it was conquered by Richard the Lion-Hearted as far back as 1911.

The course of Empire has crossed over it in all the shiftings of power. The question of Cyprus is now before the United Nations, imperilling the alliance among Greece, Turkey and Yugoslavia which is so important to the American defense program. The future of Cyprus remains uncertain because Great Britain is opposed to relinquishing it and Turkey is opposed to its becoming part of Greece, and Greece does not really want it at present, but Greek nationalism and public opinion has been stirred.

CHAPTER FOURTEEN

IT WAS after four o'clock when I reached the Hollis farm. The place was deserted. No cars were around, and the cows were bunched up at the pasture gate waiting to be milked. Their plaintive bawling was somehow sad and lonely. Chickens were swarming in the fenced-off area of an apple orchard, and from the henhouse there came a raucous squawking. From somewhere nearby pigs were grunting and squealing. Two gray cats were bunched up on the back steps making pink-mouthed meows. As I approached, a stranger, they scampered away, stiff-tailed. Obviously, it was feeding time for a variety of creatures, and no one around to feed them. I looked about for the hired man, Rex Bishop, but I didn't see him, and I thought of our target-shooting date. The back door was unlocked. I went through the quiet kitchen and the deserted house and up the wide stairway to my room.

I undressed to my shorts, went down the hall to the bathroom, shaved and took a bath. Back in the room I lay on the soft bed for a while, half dozing, and decided that I wasn't adjusted to the fresh country air and the exercise. I could still hear the faint bawling of the cattle, and I thought uneasily that it wouldn't be like Homer Hollis to let his stock go unattended. Presently I heard a car come up the lane, and decided I'd better get dressed.

To me, the hour before dinner is the best time of day; a bath, clean clothes, a drink or two, the pleasant feeling of relaxation. But now my mind would not let me relax. As I dressed, I thought of the day's events and I knew whatever I did about them, if I was going to do anything, would have to be done tonight. Tomorrow was Sunday, and I was returning to Cleveland, with a full Monday's work facing me.

I put on a clean white shirt, blue knit tie, the gray flannel suit I'd worn from Cleveland, pocketed keys, cigarets, wallet, handkerchief and silver, when somebody knocked on my door. I opened it and gazed at Sandy's white face.

"Jim, Ralph's worse. We stayed at the hospital all afternoon. Dr. Mazzini is with him now, and Mom insisted upon coming home and getting supper for all of us. Eileen's here, too, and, well—I guess there's nothing to do but wait."

"What does the doctor say?"

"Not much, except that Ralph has a high fever. . . ."

"How high?"

"A hundred and four, when we left. Dr. Mazzini didn't tell us, but one of the nurses did. They put Ralph in an oxygen tent, and we can't see him." She began to cry quietly, her hands over her face.

I closed the door to my room, put my arm around her, and we walked along the hall to the stairway. She stopped, wiped her eyes. "Jim, I—I'm sorry. I thought it would be fun having you down here, with my family, and the hunting, but—"

"Never mind." I patted her cheek. "It couldn't be helped."

Something like anger shone in her eyes. "You'd think that she'd have the courtesy to at least ask how Ralph is. She shot him, and she hasn't called, or been to the hospital to ask about him."

"Never mind," I said again, thinking that now was not the time to tell of my visit with Judy Kirkland.

She said, "Dad told me you went into town for lunch. What did you do all afternoon?"

"Oh, gawked at the people, took a walk in the woods."

"It's been boring, hasn't it?"

"Not at all," I said, and I meant it.

She took my hand. "Come on. It'll be a little while until supper. You make us a drink."

Down in the big living room I saw that she'd put out gin, ice and vermouth, and a fresh fire was burning in the fireplace. Eileen Fortune sat on a divan near the fire, and from the kitchen I heard Mrs. Hollis bustling about. Homer, I thought, was out in the barn helping Rex Bishop with the evening chores. At least, the bawling of the cattle had stopped. Eileen Fortune turned and gave me a wan smile. She was pale, and she needed some lipstick on her small, thin lips. I smiled at her, said, "Hi," and moved to the table bearing the martini ingredients.

Sandy said, "Make me one, Jim. I'll be right back." She went out to the kitchen, where I heard her talking to her mother.

I made the drinks and carried one over to Eileen before I remembered that she didn't drink. She looked up at me with sad eyes and shook her head. "No, thank you," she said softly.

"I forgot," I said. "Sorry."

"That's quite all right," she said seriously. "I don't smoke, either."

"Good for you," I said, trying to make my voice sincere. I sat down beside her and sipped from the glass intended for her. She gazed solemnly at the fire, and I had an opportunity to size her up at close range.

Her pale hair fell to her shoulders in soft curls. Her small face was delicate, but not quite in balance. As I'd noticed the evening before, her gray eyes were too far apart. Her chin was too sharp, her small nose almost too cutely tilted. She had left her vigil at the hospital long enough to change from her hunting clothes to a bluish tweed suit and a frilly white blouse. Stubby, high-heeled blue suede pumps were on her small feet, and she smelled faintly of one of the more obvious brands of drug store perfume.

But taken as a whole, Eileen Fortune was a girl any man could be proud of, and I guessed that she'd make a good wife for Ralph Hollis and they'd probably be very happy. And I gave her grudging credit for competing for Ralph, and apparently winning, against a girl like Judy Kirkland. But I liked Ralph, and I was a little dubious about his second choice of women. Eileen seemed pale beside Judy, and it seemed to me that she would have been quite happy with Earl Seltzman, and he, most certainly, would have cherished her dearly. I sighed and wondered once more why nothing ever worked out right; Earl loved Eileen. Eileen loved Ralph—anyhow, she was going to marry him, if he lived. Judy loved Ralph, too, or did love him. Dr. Mazzini was no doubt crazy about Judy. But what about Ralph? Did he still love Judy and was contenting himself with Eileen, because he couldn't forget or forgive what he saw in Judy's house that afternoon? Ralph was the vortex, the key figure. If he died, Earl Seltzman would be free to woo Eileen again. Judy could forget her jealousy and the haunted feeling of guilt and betrayal. Dr. Mazzini, with Ralph gone, could have Judy to himself—if that was what he wanted.

Every week some advertising geniuses are prevented by TV authorities from introducing commercials likely to offend sensitive listeners one way or another. Some of the rulings cause raised eyebrows, and even howls of protest from the frustrated ad-men. NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG news behind the news

By Ray Tucker

WASHINGTON—Harry S. Truman has finally taken a job!

The former President is now serving as parttime and honorary circulation manager for the Democrat Digest, the monthly magazine issued by the Democratic National Committee from its headquarters here.

It has not been a howling success since it went on sale more than a year ago at 25 cents a copy, for it consists largely of reprints of favorable newspaper articles.

In order to stir interest and subscriptions, Truman has sent out thousands of letters under his signature He urges "friends and fellow Democrats" (he has included many Republicans in both categories) to buy the Democratic Digest. His reasons for this solicitation are similar to his "whistle stop" phillipics in 1948 and 1952.

• • •

INDICTS PRESS — Truman's letters argue that purchase and perusal of this admittedly partisan publication are necessary in order to counteract and nullify the "poisonous" effect of what he calls the "one-party press." He uses that phrase twice in his salesmanship ballyhoo, although nowhere does he particularize his indictment.

The former president's anti-press prejudice amuses Washington politicians and newspaper correspondents, for the simple reason that, with the exception of F.D.R., no Democratic figure ever enjoyed better treatment from those who write for the newspapers. They headlined him far beyond his deserts when he headed the Senate Committee to Investigate National Defense.

It was the reporters' ultra-friendly accounts of Truman's defense inquiry which led F.D.R. in 1944, to notify the Democratic convention manipulators that his choices for Vice-President were Truman and Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas. And it was abrilliant and beloved newspaperman, now dead, who first suggested Truman's name to F. D. R.

• • •

HOSTILE—But the ironic aspect of former President Truman's denunciation is that higher bracket members of the Eisenhower household, although not the President himself, regard the Washington press corps as generally hostile. They refer, particularly, to so-called "special writers" and columnists.

They have complained — privately, of course—that the newspapers concentrate on the destructive rather than the constructive side of the Washington situation.

In these off-the-record analyses, they mention press handling of such episodes as the McCarthy hunt for alleged Communists in government, the Oppenheimer inquiry, the AEC-TVA deal, and the Administration's conduct of foreign relations.

• • •

SECRECY—In fact, the businessmen who surround Eisenhower are actually afraid of the press!

This unexplainable and unjustified complex accounts for the secrecy with which they cloak so many important policy decisions. To mention only a few, there were the AEC-TVA negotiations, Sherman Adams' order that the private lives of federal employes be investigated, and Adams' role in the White House drive against McCarthy.

The lack of frankness toward the press, which actually represents the public interest, accounts for many of the Administration's difficulties and embarrassments.

• • •

UNAPPRECIATIVE — This twin condemnation of the Washington press corps — Truman's and that of the present Administration—suggests that everybody is out of step except the reporters. The fact is that almost all politicians and public officials eventually feel that the newspapers are against them.

No American Presidents got more freely given publicity than Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower. But F D R. and Harry bit the hand that made them, with their denunciations of the "one-party press," and Truman's declaration as political circulation manager for the Democratic Digest.

In 35 years devoted to the study and writing of politics and government, I recall only two figures grateful rather than inimical toward their press—the late Alfred E. Smith and James A. Farley.

Women's Clubs Association Committees Are Appointed

Mrs. Tom Renick Conducts Session

Mrs. Tom A. Renick, group president, appointed her standing committees for the coming year during a meeting of the Pickaway County Association of Women's Clubs, which was held in the social rooms of the Presbyterian church.

Members of a ways and means committee, responsible for fund-raising projects of the association, are:

Miss Alice Ada May, chairman; Mrs. R. R Bales, co-chairman; Mrs. Ned Griner, Mrs. H. N. Stevenson, Mrs Charles H. May, Mrs. Luther Bower, Mrs Waldo Martin, Mrs. Joe Wilson, Mrs. Lawrence Goeller Jr., Miss Mary Heffner and Miss Ann Gordon.

A public relations committee was appointed to establish good public relations, to contact new groups in the community and to handle newspaper publicity.

Members of this group are: Mrs. Richard Funk, chairman, Mrs. Francis McGinnis, Miss Marie Hamilton, and Mrs James Moffitt.

One representative of each club in the organization serves on a house committee, which arranges the Spring social session, the one social event of the year.

New committee members are: Mrs. Kenneth Luna, of Junior Woman's Club, chairman; Mrs. Henry Schroeder, Child Conservation League; Mrs. Frank Moore, Auxiliary of the Pickaway County Medical Association; Mrs. Richard Jones, Business and Professional Women's Club; Mrs. Robert Valentine, Child Advancement Club; Mrs. Richard Wilson, Newcomers Club; Mrs. Kenneth Robbins, Monday Club; Mrs. Harold Anderson, Pickaway Garden Club; Miss Florence Dunton, Daughters of the American Revolution; Mrs. Robert Smith, Pickaway County Association of Nurses; and Mrs. Fritz Sieverts, Child Study Club.

Mrs. Richard Funk of the Junior Woman's Club is vice president of the group; Mrs. Francis McGinnis of the Child Study Club is recording secretary; Mrs. Paul White of the Pickaway Garden Club, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Norman Ritter of the Business and Professional Women, treasurer, and Miss Mary Heffner, DAR member, historian. Mrs Renick is a delegate from the Monday Club.

Introduction of the 17 members present, who represented 10 clubs, was followed by a short address of welcome by Mrs Renick. She urged the delegates to attend the association sessions and to report back to their groups on the ideas and ideals of the county organization.

A meeting of board members and chairmen of the standing committees was held following adjournment of the session.

Monday Club Holds Session On Rights, Duties To Vote

Mrs. Lawrence Johnson presided at a regular session of the Monday club in Memorial Hall. Discussions centered around the right and duty to vote.

Superintendent of city schools George Hartman was present to acquaint members with the necessity of passing the school bond issue and operating levy.

Mrs. Howard N. Stevenson presented a paper on "Our Right to Vote". She stressed the need of good government and stated that it can be determined only by the wisdom of the people.

"America on the whole," said Mrs. Stevenson, "Has never been properly prepared for governmental duties, and much needs to be done to raise the politcial standards.

"A citizen who is an asset to his country forms the habit of following current developments closely, and eventually discovers that political activities become an enjoyable part of daily existence. Well-rounded citizenship calls for proper consideration of international, national and local issues."

"The first prerequisite," Mrs. Stevenson continued, "in preserving our republican form of government is to exercise our right of franchise. Elect men and women who not only believe in representative government, but those who practice it. One should not complain about laxity in government and then sit idly by, doing nothing about it."

Mrs. G. D. Phillips read a paper prepared by Mrs. Robert Adkins. Her topic was, "Cast Your Ballot". The writer pointed out that the most important day in a democratic government is election day. Governments derive powers from decisions made by the voters on that day.

The author stressed the obligations of the voter, such as acquainting himself with the issues and with the candidates. His obligation does not end on election day, Mrs. Adkins pointed out, but the voter needs to check from time to time on how the official is administering his office.

During a business session, announcement was made of the district meeting of the group to be held Friday in Jackson.

Mrs. John Eslelman announced that Ohio calendars for 1955 had been received and are now on sale. Mrs. Edwin Jury stated that a sale of articles from the School of the Blind will be held Dec. 6.

The next meeting will be held Nov. 8, when Charles Will will be the guest speaker.

Surprise Dinner Marks Birthday Of Mrs. Turney

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Griffith entertained with a surprise dinner marking the birthday of Mrs. Robert R. Turney.

The event was held in the Tarlton home of the hosts, where a table was centered with a traditional birthday cake, surrounded by gifts for the honored guest. Games and contests provided entertainment during the evening.

Guests included:

Mrs. Turney, honored guest; Mr. Turney and daughter, Elaine, Mrs. Sam Kuhn, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Turney, Keith Turney, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Turney, Miss Gladys Turney, Charles Hawks and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rymer and children.

Mrs. Lillie Morrison, Mrs. Jane Coder, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Singelton, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Waites, Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Wasem and daughters, Donna and Benny Griffith and the hosts. A gift also was received from Mr. and Mrs. Glen Matthews.

Ruth Norpoth Is Guest Of Honor At Bridal Shower

Mrs. J. C. Rader of 240 E. Franklin St. was hostess to a shower held Wednesday evening in honor of Miss Ruth Norpoth, bride-elect of Joseph LaFontaine.

Arrangements of Fall flowers decorated the home for the occasion and gifts were placed on a table decorated in pink and aqua.

Games and contests provided entertainment. Contest winners were Mrs. William Goode and Mrs. Paul Hang. Refreshments in keeping with the theme of the event were served by the hostess at the close of the evening.

Guests at the affair included:

Miss Norpoth, honored guest, Mrs. Robert Norpoth, Mrs. Forest Short, Mrs. Joesph Goeller, Mrs. Frank Susa, Mrs. P. J. White, Mrs. Everett Stocklin, Mrs. Tom Gilliland, Mrs. William Goeller and Mrs. Ned Landis.

Mrs. Joseph Good, Mrs. Ross Phillips, Mrs. John Larimer, Mrs. Myron Schelb, Mrs. Donald Mason, Mrs. Hang Mrs. Goode, Mrs. Alma Ellis, Miss Marie Morshauser, Mrs. William Hoffman, Carolyn and Connie Norpoth and the hostess.

Is Being Overweight A Laughing Matter?

Not on your life. Being overweight is a serious matter, and should not be taken lightly. Just take 30 seconds to read the experience of Mrs. C. L. Weakley, 719 Lincoln Pk. Dr., Cincinnati 3, Ohio. Mrs. Weakley writes: "I have recommended Rennel Concentrate to many of my friends after knowing what it has done for me. With Rennel I decreased my weight by 20 lbs. and it has taken away that heavy bloated feeling I always had before. My waistline is 3½ inches smaller, and I'm very proud of this."

Thousands of others have overcome the social and physical discomfort of being overweight with this effective home recipe. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Rennel Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it. No diets to complicate your meal planning. No expensive vitamins to fortify your system from weakness while going without food for you can eat normally. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple easy way to lose pounds of bulky fat and help regain slender, more youthful curves — if reducible excess fat doesn't seem to disappear almost like magic just return the empty bottle to the manufacturer for your money back. Insist on and be sure to get Rennel.

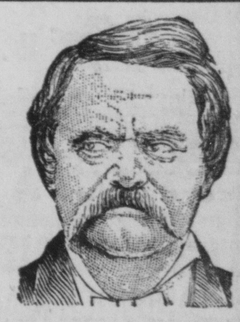
WARD SKINNER KNOWS!



Yes, Ward knows that within our city there are many "breakins" now taking place. Ward, also knows that this is Halloween Week and there will be many children out having a good time — parents lets make sure that these children remain happy!! I believe it is up to US to warn the children of the danger confronting them.

Each and every day I talk with numerous women who are to the place that if they heard someone pounding on their window they might do something drastic. — Please, parents warn your children of this fact — when going to homes go to the front door, where there is light, and to stay away from dark windows. — LET'S NOT HAVE OUR KIDS MISTAKEN FOR ONE OF THOSE LAZY, NO ACCOUNT SO AND SO's!!!

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fowl, ham and pork top the list of Halloween bargains in many of the nation's food stores this week.

Loin of pork is down sharply in many cities while fowl is selling at the lowest prices in 18 years. Both items are being heavily promoted by the larger chains as "specials" for the holiday weekend.

Traditional Halloween items also get top billing. Apples, nuts and red grapes are in plentiful supply; pumpkins are of good quality and moderately priced.

Some of the more popular cuts of beef—including sirloin steak and rib roast—carry higher price tags this week. Seafood devotees will find good buys in shrimp and oysters.

Fryers are mostly up in price—as much as six cents a pound in some cities — but still represent good value. Fowl probably offers the outstanding bargain of the week. Chain stores are cooperating with chicken farmers in an all-out promotion drive which aims at cutting down the nation's hen population, currently at a record high.

With egg prices at depressed levels, poultry farmers are killing off their hens at a relatively early age and sending them to market.

Egg prices may have hit rock bottom; large Grade "A" whites are up anywhere from two to six cents a dozen this week. They're still a standout bargain.

Cabbages, onions, acorn and butternut squash, sweet potatoes, lettuce and cauliflower are also priced for buying.

Melons are available in a wide variety of flavors, colors and shapes.

These are indications this week that the general trend in food prices may have reversed itself and headed up. After declining for four weeks in a row, the Dun & Bradstreet wholesale food price ondex jumped nearly two per cent, wiping out all of the decline registered since late September.

Dividend Declared

CINCINNATI (AP)—U.S. Printing & Lithograph Co. yesterday declared a dividend of $1 a share on common stock, payable Dec. 1 to stockholders of record Nov. 16.

Our Girls and Boys IN SERVICE

Richard N. Justice, aviation electrician's mate third class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Justice of 548 E. Main St., and husband of the former Miss Doris Smith, all of Circleville, is serving at the U. S. Navel Air Test Center, at Patuxent River, Md., in the Armament Test Division.

Justice, who entered the Navy's service in November of 1951, reported on board from the U. S. Air Anti-Submarine Squadron 31, Naval Air Station, Quonset Point, R. I.

Before entering the Navy, he was graduated from Circleville High School and was employed by Circleville Lamp Works of the General Electric Co.

Horses were not known on the North American continent until the coming of Europeans, who introduced them.

Man Blows Up Self In Courthouse

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP) — A man carrying a box was blown to pieces yesterday in an explosion that wrecked the second floor of the Hidalgo County courthouse here and shook downtown Edinburg.

The sheriff's department said it was obvious that the box the man was carrying was loaded with dynamite or some similar explosive.

The man was identified as Henry Miller, about 60, of Realitos, Tex. Former Edinburg Mayor Chester Blodgett, who knew Miller, said Miller had threatened to commit suicide.

4 Tulane Students Put On Probation

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Four Tulane University students have been put on disciplinary probation for an indefinite period for their parts in a panty raid at a Newcomb College girl's dormitory.

Dean of students John H. Stibbs said the university's committee on student affairs would decide later on the length of the probation.

The committee also ruled that participation by Tulane students in the future in any such panty raids "may result in suspension or expulsion."

Worn out movie films are processed for the silver which can be recovered from them.

GOP Facing Uphill Battle In Rocky Mountain States

(Editor's Note: This is another in a series of summing-up stories by roving Associated Press reporters who are analyzing the campaign in various sections of the country.)

By JACK BELL

DENVER (AP) — President Eisenhower's popularity and campaign effectiveness are matched against apparent economic discontent in what now looks like an uphill Republican battle for Senate and House seats in eight Southwestern and Rocky Mountain states.

Unless intensified appeals by Eisenhower for a Republican Congress change voter sentiment in the few days before the Nov. 2 election, Democrats could gain two Senate and four House seats in these states Eisenhower carried handilly two years ago.

The eight states are Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, Idaho and Montana. All except Utah and Arizona are electing senators this year, with four Democratic and two GOP seats at stake.

Twelve Democratic and nine Republican House seats are being contested as are five governorships held by Republicans and one by a Democrat. Democrats now are reported leading in all but one of the governor contests.

Eisenhower evidently retains most of the strength he demonstrated in this area in 1952 when he swept all eight states by a margin of 520,000 votes over his Democratic opponent, Adlai E. Stevenson.

Republicans in all of these states have been leaning heavily on the demonstrated Eisenhower popularity.

But it remains doubtful whether the continued high tide prestige of the President—which isn't disputed seriously by the Democrats—can offset what seems on the surface to be a Democratic trend.

Some Republican politicians say privately they are convinced they could have pulled the situation out of the fire if Eisenhower had done even a limited measure of the kind of on-the-spot personal campaigning that former President Harry S. Truman did in 1948.

Eisenhower's eight week work and play vacation in Denver gave Colorado Republicans a lift to the point where they are talking hopefully of grabbing off a Senate seat being vacated by Democrat Edwin C. Johnson, who is running for governor.

The President's recent visit to Montana brought out about 30,000 persons. Many probably traveled more than 500 miles to look at him and hear what was billed as a non-political speech.

Republicans everywhere in the area have been drumming the refrain that Eisenhower needs a Republican Congress to complete his program. They are defending that program vigorously, although they are beset by what even they concede is dissatisfaction among farmers.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson has made frequent appearances in the area to extoll what he calls the virtues of the administration's flexible farm price support program. He has been under strong attack by Democratic Sen. Robert S. Kerr, who seems well on the way to re-election in Oklahoma.

Montana Republicans, including Gov. J. Hugo Aronson, regard Benson's appearance in that state as likely to be greatly beneficial to GOP candidates there. Benson's prestige is high in Utah and in some parts of Idaho.

But the agriculture secretary was among the missing when Republican speakers were invited into New Mexico, where Democratic Sen. Clinton P. Anderson is given the edge over Republican Gov. Edwin L. Mecham in that state's senate race. However, Anderson is one Democrat who supported the flexible support program when it went through Congress this year.

While there have been charges about "coddling Communists" in the bitter Montana senatorial battle, the Reds-in-government issue nowhere seems to be dominant. Republican Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin seems to be pretty much the forgotten man of the campaign in this area, although he evidenly has strong support in such states as Montana.

Democrats on the whole have candidates with better - known names than the Republicans, and many of the races are revolving around personalities and local issues.

Without openly forecasting an economic downturn, Democrats in all of the states have been talking about what they claim is a somewhat lower level of business, employment and farm income this year than last. As one politician put it in talking to this reporter: "Everybody seems to be getting along pretty well but thinks he ought to be doing better."

$2½ Million Silver Shipment Reported

DENVER (AP)—Mrs. Alma Schneider, director of the U.S. Mint here, announced about 2½ million dollars worth of silver coins were shipped out yesterday in a heavily guarded truck convoy.

The destination was secret because "we certainly don't want to take any chances on hijacking," she said.

Inmates Try Join Jail 'Open House'

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—It was open house at Clark County Jail and darned if everybody didn't want to get in—or out—of the act. Deputies said yesterday they found three cell bars partially sawed and uncovered a nest of hacksaw blades and crude weapons.

Some 1,000 residents toured the jail Tuesday night as part of a campaign to push a $495,000 bond issue for a new jail. Deputies decided yesterday to shake down the inmates to make sure nothing was smuggled in.

Honeymoon Trip Continuing On

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Keith and Joan McDonald, who started a honeymoon trip in March 1952 from Christ Church, New Zealand, by motorcycle, arrived here yesterday aboard a ferry from Cuba.

The McDonalds said they have covered 55,000 miles in 40 countries on six continents. They plan to continue to Miami, thence to New York, Montreal, Alaska and back to New Zealand.

WASHINGTON (AP)—One of the things Americans pride themselves on is that every man accused of a crime is entitled to a fair trial.

This works two ways, of course. Just as the trial must be fair to the accused, it must give the accusers — the government—a fair shake too.

Almost always when a cry of bias is raised it comes from the defendant. But now such a cry comes from the government, by way of the Justice Department.

The government claims it can't get a fair trial of Owen J. Lattimore, the long-controversial Far Eastern specialist, because the trial judge, Luther W. Youngdahl, is biased in Lattimore's favor.

And U.S. Dist. Judge Youngdahl, refusing to take himself out of the case, charges Justice Department lawyers with trying to intimidate the courts.

It's a strikingly unusual situation. Here is how it came about:

Late in 1952 a federal grand jury indicated Lattimore on charges of lying to a Senate subcommittee. There were seven counts in the indictment. They key charge was that Lattimore lied when he said he never had been "a sympathizer and promoter of communism and Communist interests."

Lattimore's lawyers went to court—asked that the indictment be thrown out. Their petition went before Youngdahl, a Republican governor of Minnesota until he went on the federal bench, and Youngdahl threw out four of the seven counts. He held the key charge and three others were too vague to have any legal meaning.

But he went beyond that.

He also voiced "serious doubt" in his written opinion, whether the three remaining charges would stand up in court either.

The government protested. It asked the U.S. Court of Appeals to put back the four counts knocked court did put back two of them. But it upheld Youngdahl 8-1 on the main issue and ruled the "sympathizer and promoter" charge mustn't go to a jurt.

So the government, in effect, started over again. It laid its case before a new grand jury. And early this month Lattimore was indicted for a second time. This time that word "sympathizer" was left out. Instead Lattimore was accused of falsely denying he had been a "follower" of the Communist line" and a "promoter of Communist interests."

But the government wasn't through yet. The federal prosecutor, U.S. Atty. Leo A. Rover, formally asked Youngdahl to remove himself as the judge in Lattimore's forthcoming trial.

Rover said he wasn't questioning Youngdahl's honor or integrity. But he declared Youngdahl has "a fixed, personal bias and prejudice" in favor of Lattimore. And he said this is proved by the language Youngdahl used in ruling on the original indictment.

Under the law, all Youngdahl had to do at this point—whithout going into the $4 legal words involved—was either get out of the case or dismiss the government's protest. He didn't have to give reasons. In fact, as Youngdahl himself noted, the law doesn't let him pass on the truth or falsity of such charges as Rover made.

But Youngdahl, in announcing he would stay on the bench in the trial, chose to blister the hide of Rover and—by implication—of the whole Justice Department. He said those who challenged him acted "irresponsibly and recklessly." And he declared:

"... I cannot escape from the conclusion that the purpose of the affidavit is to discredit, in the public mind, the final action of the courts, or else to intimidate the courts themselves."

Now this, if true, would be a pretty serious offense by any lawyer. But the Justice Department continues to voice full confidence in Rover. It hasn't said what it will do next. Nobody doubts more will be heard of this row before the Jan. 10 trial date rolls around.

Local Residents In OSU Pledges

Two Pickaway County residents were among the 816 men pledged by 44 social fraternities this year at Ohio State University.

The list of names and fraternities issued by Dean of Men Mylin H. Ross included Charles F. Bell of Circleville Route 4, Alpha Kappa Lambda, and Gordon G. Writsel of New Holland, Acacia.

Meanwhile, the pledging of 511 women students this Autumn quarter by 20 sorority chapters on the university campus was announced by Dean of Women Christine Y. Conaway.

Included was Jacqueline Smith of Circleville, Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Savings Bond Sales Top 1953 By 11 Percent

September sales of Series E and H Bonds in Ohio reflected a 12 per cent decrease, compared to the same month last year, but the nine-month total for 1954 was 11 per cent ahead of last year, Judge William D Radcliff, chairman of the Pickaway County Savings Bond Committee, reported Thursday.

Sales of the two bonds in Pickaway County last month totaled $58,606, compared to $30,436 invested in September last year.

State purchases were $22,340,727 last month and a year ago in September the total was $25,127,014. Nationally, sales of E and H Bonds rose nearly seven per cent over September, 1953, and for the nine-month total, purchases reached a nine-year high.

Although the September decrease in Ohio was the third month of 1954 to show a drop, residents of the state, through September, had invested better than $25 million more in E and H Bonds then they did in the comparable period last year.

Series E bondholders are holding their matured bonds into the optional extension period established by the Treasury Department in 1951. Over $14 billions in E bonds have matured since May, 1951, but only $3.5 billion of this total has been redeemed. On September 30, 1954, the cash value of Series E and H Bonds outstanding in the nation reached another all-time record and amounted to $37,808,000,000.

Steel Firms Expect Hike In Business

Despite Optimism, '54 Earnings Picture Found Comparatively Dim

NEW YORK (AP)—Steel companies are looking for better and more profitable business in the months ahead.

But this summer's dullness has dimmed their earnings picture for 1954. And even the most optimistic expect the industry to have perhaps one-fourth of its capacity idle for some time to come.

Even the big drop in tax payments wasn't enough, in most cases, to make the July-September quarter net profits appear bright—either in comparison with the same period a year ago or with the April-June quarter this year.

At mid-year 30 steel companies showed profit after taxes trailing the previous year by 14 per cent.

Only six of the first 22 companies to report on their nine-months showing have profits higher than a year ago. Some of the six are in special fields that have been doing well, and some are located in regions where demand is good and competition lighter because of nearness to markets.

Combined, the 22 report profits down 19 per cent from the first nine months of 1953. One company—a supplier of auto companies—operated in the red this year.

But with the bad news reported and out of the way, many of the companies are now looking for much better days. Orders are picking up.

The usual estimate is that in the final months of 1954 and the first months of 1955 output of the steel industry should average around 75 per cent of capacity. The industry says that 15 per cent of total steel-making capacity is regarded as standby facilities for use in a defense emergency.

The new orders are coming from the auto makers and from other users who have cut their steel inventories down to desired size.

"Steel inventories are barely sufficient for current production," the Chase National Bank of New York notes today in its quarterly review of business. It also sees a chance that business expansion of plant and equipment—with increased demand for steel — may be revived next year.

"The long-term need for more productive capacity has not been changed by the current mild recession," the bank says, even if some industries appear to have excess capacity right now.

Steel officials seem sure that their customers are scraping the bottom of the inventory barrel. Steelmen have been saying this for months, of course, but this time they may be right.

The auto companies, with heavy production scheduled for the weeks ahead, will be stepping up orders for steel. This may more than offset the seasonal decline in demand for some other steel products, as winter weather curtails heavy construction and chokes off the need for tinplate and wire.

U.S. Steel, which saw its third quarter production slip in two-third of capacity, and its profit dip along with it, expects to operate at three-fourths of capacity the rest of this year. Chairman Benjamin F. Fairless looks for 1955 to be a better year than this one has proved to be.

Inland Steel, in the healthy Chicago area, is now operating at 90 per cent of capacity. Its earnings dipped in he summer months, but for the year so far are running ahead of last year.

Several steel companies have fired up some furnaces idle during the summer and are calling laid-off workers back to the coal mines, firm in the belief that the worst is over and that the basic industry is now on firmer ground.

Divorce Witness Leaps To Death

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—After attending the hearing at which Marilyn Monroe divorced Joe DiMaggio yesterday, a 28-year-old mother of two children leaped to her death from the 10th floor of another building, police reported.

Officers said they learned that Mrs. Selma Leonore Silbert had made other attempts to end her life.

Negro Named Air Force General

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has named the first Negro Air Force general. He is Benjamin Oliver Davis Jr., a 41-year-old native of Washington now serving as director of operations of the Far East Air Forces.

Davis, who is the son of Brig. Gen. Benjamin O. Davis, a retired Army officer, was promoted from the rank of colonel to the temporary rank of brigadier general under the President's directive. His father was the first man of his race to become an Army general. He has held a number of high positions including the post of commander of the Lockbourne Air Force Base, Ohio.

Blaze Kills 7

SEOUL (AP) — Gasoline leaking from a U.S Army pipeline was ignited by a discarded match today and the resulting flash blaze killed seven Koreans and injured 32, the national police reported.

Provoo Indicted For Second Time

BALTIMORE (AP) — John David Provoo, once a clerk in a San Francisco bank, has been reindicted on seven charges of "overt acts" of treason in World War II by collaboration with the Japanese.

A onetime Army staff sergeant, Provoo was convicted of treason in New York in February 1953 and sentenced to life. Then a federal appeals court upset the conviction on the grounds that he should have been tried in Maryland, because he was a prisoner at Ft. Meade at the time of his original indictment.

Obituary

Amidst the beauties of God's creation, as Mother Nature is changing her cloak to the beautiful autumn hues, and the golden grain is harvested, we are reminded that tragedy lurks on every side. So it was with our departed brother, as he harvested the grain which he had so tentatively planted in the springtime.

Nelson Irvin Mowery, son of Nelson F. and Amanda Hosler Mowery, was born in Pickaway Co. Sept. 16, 1895, departing this life Oct. 20, 1954, aged 59 years, 1 mo. and 4 days.

Aug. 7, 1915 he was married to Hazel Poling, with whom he has shared the sunshine and showers of life for 39 years.

Seven children came to this household, three sons, Eugene of Dayton, George of Jackson Twp., Doyle, who died in infancy, 4 daughters Mrs. Ruth Wells, Circleville, Mrs. Pauline Cain of Columbus, Mrs. Joan Rasor of Dayton, and Mrs. Marguerite Reynolds of Yellow Bud.

The wife, children, eleven grandchildren, two brothers, Turney Mowery of Newark, Ohio, and Denver of Los Angeles, Calif., nieces and nephews are left to mourn his untimely departure.

Mr. Mowery was a member of the Order of Elks of Circleville, and the Pleasant View E. U. B. Church.

He has lived his entire life in Pickaway Co., his adult life being spent in farming.

He was a kind, devoted and loving husband and father, leaving them with many fond memories of the happiness he experienced when the family was gathered around the fireside.

His honest, kind disposition, brotherly affection and consideration of others, throughout the years won a host of friends, who join the family in their loss.

The Merciful hand of our Maker intervened, allowing Mr. Mowery several conscious hours, in which he left many beautiful statements with his family, which will be cherished throughout life, the most cherished of all, the glowing testimony of victory over death through his acceptance of Christ as His Saviour.

This occasion today bears out the lines of the poet:

The clock of life is wound but once
And no one has the power,
To tell just when it's hands will stop
At late or early hours.
To lose one's wealth is sad indeed
To lose one's health is more,
But to lose one's soul is such a loss,
That no one can restore.
The present only is all we own,
So live—love—work with a will,
And place no thought in the morrow
For the hands may then be still.

Card of Thanks

To all the many friends of our beloved husband and father the late Nelson I. Mowery, We extend our sincere and heartfelt thanks for their many expressions of sympathy. We thank all who sent flowers, the Rev. J. D. Hopper, the Rev. Jack Noble, Defenbaugh Funeral Home and the singer, William Strehle.

American League Chieftains To Vote On Future Of A's

NEW YORK (AP)—The American League became a house divided today as the club owners met for the second time in two weeks to decide the fate of their white elephant, the Philadelphia Athletics.

Ostensibly the meeting was called by League President Will Harridge to vote on acceptance or disapproval of the Athletics' sale to an eight-man Philadelphia syndicate.

It was learned, however, that Harridge probably first would call for a vote on whether to shift the beleaguered franchise to Kansas City.

On Oct. 12 in Chicago, the league approved the sale to Arnold Johnson, Chicago financier, and voted to move the franchise to Kansas City, contingent upon Johnson completing his $3,375,000 deal with Roy Mack, executive vice president of the Athletics.

Since then, however, the house of Mack, Connie and his two sons, Roy and Earle, signed paper for the sale of their stock to a Philadelphia syndicate in a deal involving approximately four million dollars. Both the Macks and the Philadelphia group are awaiting league approval.

Six of the eight clubs must approve a new owner. Any three can block approval.

As the meeting got under way, it was known that at least two clubs favored the sale of the A's to the Philadelphia group and two wanted the Philadelphia franchise moved to Kansas City.

Here is the way the clubs are believed to be lined up:

Those definitely for the sale of the Philadelphia group — Detroit and Washington.

Those probably for the sale to the Philadelphia group — Chicago and Boston.

Those definitely for the transfer to Kansas City—New York and Baltimore.

On the fence—Cleveland.

On the spot—Philadelphia.

Dan Topping, president of the Yankees and a leader in the fight to shift the A's to Kansas City, was expected to put up a stiff battle against the sale to the Philadelphia group.

2 Buck Stars Lead Big 10 Statistics

CHICAGO (AP)—Len Dawson, Alan Ameche and a pair of Ohio State stars, Dave Leggett and Bobby Watkins, top the Big Ten individual statistics' list of today.

Dawson, 178-pound, 6-foot Purdue sophomore, heads conference passers with 19 of 30 completions in two league games for 383 yards and four touchdowns.

The 19-year-old quarterback from Alliance, Ohio, however, has hurled 12 touchdown passes in five games and is shooting for a collegiate all-time record.

Dawson is a good bet to surpass the 1953 passing champion, Stanford's Bobby Garrett, who hit 17 touchdown passes in 10 games, and could approach the all-time record of 23 set by Kentucky's Babe Parilli in 1950.

Watkins tops Big Ten rushers, according to official statistics, with a net gain of 309 yards in four games. But Wisconsin's Ameche has piled up 242 in three games and has an edge over Watkins in gains per game of 81 yards to 77.

Leggett is No. 1 in total offense with a four - game net of 371 yards against 363 for Earl Morral of Michigan State and 351 for Wisconsin's Jim Miller.

Top pass receiver is Michigan State's Jim Hinesly with 11 catches. His teammate, Johnny Matsock, leads in all kick returns with an average of 29.5 yards for kickoff runbacks and 26.0 in punt returns.

Minnesota's Gino Cappelletti has the edge in punting with an average of 40.6.

Northwestern's Jim Troglio has the best rushing average with eight yards in 17 carries. Top total offense average belongs to Dawson with 8.6 per play.

Harper Upsets Del Flanagan

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—"Maurice Harper is a good welterweight prospect, but champion Johnny Saxton will beat him because Harper lacks experience."

That's the way Del Flanagan, of St. Paul, the world's No. 2 contender, sized up Harper after he dropped a 10-round split decision to the little known boxer in their nationally televised fight last night.

Flanagan decisioned Saxton, the newly crowned champion, before he won the crown.

Oklahoma Sniffs Mile-High Air

DENVER (AP)—Oklahoma's No. 2-ranked Sooners fly into Denver today to sniff the chilly, thin mile-high air before their important Big Seven football game Saturday at Boulder with Colorado's unranked Buffaloes.

The talk around town is that the Oklahomans are not taking any chances with the ever-dangerous Buffs and want to become accustomed to the climate before the kickoff.

18 Active Players Hold At .300 Mark

NEW YORK (AP)—Eighteen major league baseball players headed by Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox and Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals finished the 1954 campaign with a lifetime batting average of .300 or better.

Williams, who completed his 13th year in the big time, hit .345 in 1954 and his lifetime average remained at .348, tops in both circuits.

Musial, a .330 batter last season, lost a single point off his lifetime figure, but his .344 mark for 13 campaigns still is the best in the National League.

In addition to Williams, the other American Leaguers in the select .300 lifetime group are Dale Mitchell, Cleveland, .315; Billy Goodman, Boston, .310; George Kell and Minnie Minoso, Chicago, .309; Harvey Kuenn, Detroit, .308; Johnny Pesky, Washington, .307; Bobby Avila, Cleveland, .306 and Enos Slaughter, New York, .304.

National Leaguers, besides Musial, at .300 or higher are Jackie Robinson, Brooklyn, .319; Richie Ashburn, Philadelphia, .312; Duke Snider, Brooklyn and Don Mueller, New York, .307; Smoky Burgess, Philadelphia, .305; Willie Mays, New York, .304; Ted Kluszewski, Cincinnati, .301 and Carl Furillo, Brooklyn, .300.

Avila Labeled 'Man Of Year'

CLEVELAND (AP)—Bob Avila, the American League's batting champion, was elected the Cleveland Indians "Man of the Year" last night by unanimous vote of the Cleveland chapter of the Baseball Writers Assn. of America.

The 28-year-old Mexican second baseman batted .341 for the Indians last season.

Owner, manager and player on the Mexico City Reds in the Mexican Winter League, Avila is also a candidate for American League Most Valuable Player.

High Praise Is Heaped On Hop Cassady

CHICAGO (AP) — Halfback Hopalong Cassady was galloping full tilt towards All - America fame today while a rousing scrap for top Midwest recognition at end brewed between Cassady's Ohio State mate, Dean Dugger, and Michigan's Ron Kramer.

This area's Associated Press selection board for the 1954 All-America team heaped lavish praise on the 168-pound Cassady for his sensational play in the 31-14 Buckeye conquest of Wisconsin.

But Saturday's work of Dugger, 213-pound senior, and Kramer, 210-pound sophomore, also caught plenty of attention.

Some observers have tabbed Kramer the greatest Michigan end since peerless Bennie Oosterbaan, his present coach, was grabbing passes in the late 1920s.

Dugger was called the key defender in the Ohio State array which held Wisconsin to 87 yards rushing and held Alan Ameche to 42 yards in 16 carries.

These two giant wingmen will match talent on the same field Nov. 20 at Columbus when Ohio State and Michigan meet in a contest which may settle the Big Ten championship.

If there is a football man-of-the-hour in the Big Ten area, however, it is Ohio State's Cassady.

Oliver E. Kuechle, veteran writer of the Milwaukee Journal, offered this capsule description:

"He and he alone beat Wisconsin Saturday. He is a threat to go all the way any time he gets the ball. On top of this, he can block which he frequently does from a flanker position."

Arozina Star Nets 100 Points

NEW YORK (AP)—Arizona's Art Luppino already has accomplished what no major college football player was able to do all last season—score 100 points.

The 21 points Luppino tallied against New Mexico last Saturday gave the sophomore speedster exactly 100 according to NCAA Service Bureau statistics released today. He has five games remaining.

Luppino, who also is the No. 1 ball carrier in the country, has scored 15 touchdowns and added 10 extra points. At that rate he'll far surpass the fewer than a dozen who have scored 150 in a season of major competition.

Hayes Says Buck Practice 'Fair'

COLUMBUS (AP) — Coach Woody Hayes, unawed by honors earned by his unbeaten Ohio State Buckeyes, yesterday termed the squad's practice "just fair."

The team is in good physical shape with the exception of left guard Jim Parker, out with an ankle injury.

Ohio State was named top team in the weekly Associated Press poll and halfback Howard "Hopalong" Cassady was named the Associated Press "Back of the Week."

Hasty House Farm's Hasty Road is favored to add a big chunk of money to his imposing earnings of $436,557 in today's $50,000 - added Yankee Handicap for 3-year-olds at Suffolk Downs.

When Columbia of the Sally League purchased lefthander Joe Botelho, the Cincinnati Redleg farm club paid what may be a record price for a minor league transaction. Redleg officials declined to disclose how much money was involved. However, one official said if it wasn't a record high it was "pretty close to it."

The Pittsburgh Steelers lost six of seven exhibitions. Now they're tied for the Eastern Division lead in the National Football League. "It's team spirit," comments coach Walt Kiesling.

George Valentine, 28, has been named coach at Ashland High School. He replaces Cloyce Taylor, fired last week after admitting he gave "pep" tablets to players before important games.

Sokolsky's

Cyprus is therefore an explosive situation because the Greek Orthodox and the Communists have joined on enosis. To show how such things can develop, last August a group of 21 reserve officers from Pyrgos, in Southern Greece, marched 200 miles to Athens to deliver two phials of their blood as evidence of their resolve to give their lives for the liberation of Cyprus. Such emotionalism does not die down.

The British view was presented to the United Nations by Sir Pierson Dixon, permanent British delegate, who said:

"Cyprus is, of course, entirely within the domestic jurisdiction of the United Kingdom, and thus a territory in whose affairs the United Nations cannot intervene. We shall, therefore, oppose the inclusion of this item on the agenda, and I hope that good sense will prevail."

The British will not give up Cyprus and the United Nations will not even try to force such an eventuality because it is a fair guess that if the British showed any such intention, the Turks would claim Cyprus as essential to Turkey's existence. But enosis will not die down because the Kremlin will keep it alive. It is a way of stirring trouble between Greece and Turkey and that could be plenty of trouble.

Halloween Pranksters Starting Dirty Work Early This Year

Police, Sheriff Patrol Issue Stern Warning

Pranks May Cause Serious Injuries To Some Motorists

Halloween, bringing with it the usual array of pranksters, is practically here.

Pranksters appear to be leaning to malicious destruction of property and are paving the way for serious accidents, according to reports received by city police, sheriff's department and State Highway Patrol.

"We are going to crack down hard," stated Police Chief Elmer Merriman. "It is all right to have fun—but within reason."

The chief pointed out that the situation is becoming more serious. He explained that some pranksters, perhaps with twisted little minds, are turning to destroying property—breaking windows, upsetting garbage, etc.

* * *

HOWEVER, it seems as if pranksters are not confining their malicious humor to residential areas.

"We are getting reports of obstructions being thrown up on roads," replies Sheriff Charles Radcliff. "There is one case where a pole was thrown across a road. A motorist, not realizing what had happened, hit the pole and demolished his car.

"Luckily, he was not injured. But he was just plain lucky."

The sheriff related how reports have come in from Darby Township of street signs being altered and even bent out of position and lifted out.

"There is not much doubt about the age group involved," the sheriff remarked. "What we need to do is get the parents in here and explain the seriousness of some of the pranks."

* * *

SHERIFF RADCLIFF pointed out that the county has not had a fatal accident since Aug. 14. But that more pranks, such as putting obstructions in the road, could easily erase that mark.

"Halloween is a time to have fun," Chief Merriman declared, "but clean fun. We all pulled tricks when we were young. But we tried to keep the tricks from hurting anyone."

A report was brought to the sheriff's office that pranksters have turned to fire for their weird amusement. Several blazes in corn fields, started in corn shocks, have been reported on farms near Duvall.

"We are already starting on special patrol," Sheriff Radcliff asserted. "We will cruise the entire county every night."

The sheriff said his deputies have been put on special alert in view of the fact that the holiday falls on a weekend.

* * *

BOTH THE SHERIFF and police chief said that every effort would be made to see that Halloween passes without serious mishap.

Both also agree that violators, regardless of age, will be dealt with severely.

Warning that serious traffic accidents have resulted from what appeared to be innocent pranks, Halloweeners were advised to confine their activities to places other than state highways, county roads and city streets.

"Throwing objects at autos can be a serious offense and may cause an accident," Colonel George Mingle, superintendent of the State Highway Patrol, pointed out. "Soaping windows is one of the common pranks but even this can cause trouble if a driver's view is obstructed."

There have been cases over the state where frightened motorists have lost control of their autos or swerved to miss obstructions placed on highways and wrecked their cars causing injury or death, Colonel Mingle said.

* * *

AT THE SAME TIME the superintendent advised Halloweeners to wear light-colored clothing, carry a light or use reflectorized tape when walking along the roadway. Many Halloween costumes are of dark color and cannot be seen by a motorist, Colonel Mingle said.

"Walk against the traffic if there are no sidewalks and make certain the motorist can see you," he advised. "Parents should describe the safest routes to the children and warn them to keep away from moving traffic."

GOP In Florida Abandons Race

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — The Florida Republican Executive Committee has voted not to put up a candidate for governor to succeed J. Tom Watson, who died Sunday.

This action means the Democratic nominee, Leroy Collins, will be the next governor of the state by default.

All members of the executive committee agreed that the time was too short for another name to be put on the ballot.

New Business Renaissance Urged

COLUMBUS (AP)—The president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce urged Ohio businessmen yesterday to bring a "new renaissance" of American progress.

The businessmen were attending a luncheon of the Ohio Chamber's 61st annual meeting here. Clem D. Johnston of Roanoke, Va., the national president, said that the modern miracles of atomic energy, medical discoveries, wonder metals and man-made materials were like "Aladdin's genii, waiting in the wings for the next act in the 20th Century."

QUIET SURFACE HIDES JITTERY CAMPAIGN

7 Men, 5 Women Picked For Sheppard Trial Jury

12 Selected Today To Hear Murder Data

Prosecution Exercises Last Challenge; Sobbing Mother Given Dismissal

CLEVELAND (AP)—A jury of seven men and five housewives finally was agreed upon today to try Dr. Samuel Sheppard for the murder of his wife, Marilyn.

The trial opened Oct. 18 and it took more than eight full days in a tug of war between the state and the defense before, at 1:21 p. m. EST today, Defense Attorney William J. Corrigan told the court:

"We will pass."

Assistant Prosecutor John M. Mahon then passed for the state.

The state's last move was to dismiss a woman juror who had made a tearful plea to be excused.

Reversing an announcement yesterday it was "satisfied" with the Sheppard jury list, the prosecution pointed a challenging finger at Mrs. Genevieve A. Pelsey.

A jury of seven men and five women—the first time the males predominated—had been seated by the time the court recessed for lunch.

The latest replacements were real estate salesman James Roger Manning and Frank J. Kollarits, a chemical company clerk.

Mrs. Pelsey, a mother, had broken down sobbing, "I don't want to be on this case," when she looked Sheppard in the face Tuesday.

Assistant Prosecutor Thomas Parrino asked her today if she still felt the same way.

"Yes, sir," she replied.

So Parrino exercised his peremptory challenge.

When she left the courtroom today, reporters asked Mrs. Pelsey why she cried when she looked at Dr. Sheppard.

Bursting into tears again, she explained that she was "sympathetic" to the young osteopath. She told newsmen between sobs:

"I lost a 17-year-old son of my own. As I looked at Dr. Sheppard I realized I couldn't take that boy away from his mother."

During his questioning of Manning, Defense Attorney William Corrigan walked over, placed his hands on the shoulders of the defendant and asked:

"Do you look upon him as a man presumed to be innocent?"

Looking Sheppard squarely in the eyes, Manning said, "I do."

Corrigan said yesterday he plans to call on Dr. Charles W. Elkins of Phoenix, Ariz., formerly chief neurosurgeon at Lutheran Hospital here to "prove the extent of the injuries Sam Sheppard suffered at the hands of the man who killed his wife."

The defense lawyer said Elkins examined the 30-year-old Sheppard "a couple of days" after the osteopath's wife was found dead in her bed last July 4. Sheppard has insisted his wife was killed by a bushy-haired man who invaded their lakeshore home and knocked him unconscious when he tried to go to her aid.

On the afternoon of July 4, another medical doctor examined Sheppard at the direction of County Coroner Samuel R. Gerber. That doctor, Dr. Richard Hexter, later testified at a coroner's inquest that a black eye just about summed up the injuries he found.

Ike Books Quick Trip To Ohio, Other States For Political Speeches

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower puts to the acid test tomorrow his ability to stir up the voters and to win support for Republican candidates.

The White House announced last night that Eisenhower will take off tomorrow on a one-day flying campaign trip to Cleveland, Detroit, Louisville and Wilmington, Del., in that order.

The GOP National Committee's choice of the four cities was regarded here as indicating mixed hopes and fears of party officials about next Tuesday's election. All four states have closely-fought Senate races.

In Cleveland, Eisenhower will be trying to aid Republican Rep. George H. Bender, who is opposing Democratic Sen. Thomas A. Burke in a state that Eisenhower carried by a half million votes in 1952.

Republicans have been pinning large hopes on Bender's regaining the Ohio seat that Burke was appointed to fill after the death of Republican Sen. Robert A. Taft.

Eisenhower's visit to Cleveland has been termed "desperation tactics" by Burke.

"Of course, Ike is not running for senator, but I'm sure a great many Republicans wish that he were," Burke declared.

Bender said Eisenhower promised him last May he would make a campaign trip to Ohio.

"I had every confidence he would keep his word," Bender said.

Ray C. Bliss, Republican Ohio state chairman, said the Cleveland airport gathering will be primarily for party workers, but would also be open to the public.

Bliss went to Cleveland last night to map plans with members of his staff and representatives of the GOP National Committee.

The President is expected to arrive at Cleveland Hopkins Airport around 9 a. m. He will remain about an hour.

Eisenhower's quick trip will follow close on the heels of his radio-television talk here tonight at a campaign rally staged by the Citizens for Eisenhower congressional organization. Mrs. Eisenhower will accompany him to the rally. The speech will be carried by NBC television and radio and by ABC radio. It is scheduled for 9:30 p. m.

Tonight's speech has been billed as an effort to arouse in the battle for control of Congress, to be decided at the polls next Tuesday, some of the "crusade" spirit of the 1952 Presidential campaign.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty announced that on tomorrow's trip the President will speak to airport crowds at each stop, with Republican candidates on hand.

Eisenhower told his news conference yesterday his chief objective will be to dramatize his desire to see everybody vote in next Tuesday's election.

But the selection of the sites by the Republican National Committee and its financial sponsorship of the tour indicated party officials expect him to come close to the kind of barnstorming in which the President said last April 29 he would not engage.

Eisenhower told newsmen he was puzzled by reports of apathy among the voters who might not share his belief about the importance of the election.

Ohio Governor Candidates Step Up Their Campaigns

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio's gubernatorial campaign is bringing more hard-hitting speeches as Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche and his Republican opponent, James A. Rhodes, sought to leave good impressions as election day neared.

Lausche says Ohio during his four administrations has made giant strides in mental health and in a multitude of other fields.

"There are nine receiving mental hospitals now against none when I took office," he told the Hamilton County Democratic War Veterans Club last night. "We have 22 clinics where mental patients can go for treatment. State employes in this field have increased in just a few years from 2,700 to 8,400. But we still have much yet to do in this field.

"And it will be done."

The Democratic chief executive ticked off a list of fields in which he said the state had made great progress:

Conservation, stream purification, highway safety, strip mine legislation, public welfare and poor relief, workmen's compensation, liquor control, education, state parks, lakes and recreation acres and anti-gambling and anti-racketeering measures.

Here's what he had to say on a variety of topics:

Stream purification — An anti-pollution law passed by the General Assembly is helping to lick the problem, but a complete halt must be made to the dumping into creeks, rivers and lakes of "Poisonous wastes, raw sewage and other obnoxious stuff."

Race tracks—"The track operators have got to be brought down to earth. My fight with them is not finished.

Highways — The state let highway contracts totaling $301 million in 1953 and would sign contracts for $154 million by the end of the year. "Does that sound like we're neglecting highways?"

State expenditures — "If anything, we have kept expenses too low in this state, and still we are showing astonishing results and progress."

Last night, Rhodes asserted that Lausche is destroying the Democratic party in Ohio by gathering too much power to himself.

Rhodes claimed Lausche has been reelected at the "expense of other candidates on the state Democratic ticket."

He claimed the present Democratic state chairman, Eugene Hanhart of Dover, was elected after state Democrats received an ultimatum from Lausche that he would recognize no one else.

"Is it not well established that the integrity of our form of government depends upon a two-party system—free of bossism and dictation—parties regulated by laws and the free choice of county chairmen and central committeemen?" Rhodes asked.

Benson Lauds Passage Of Flexible Plan

COLUMBUS (AP)—Flexible farm price supports had been favored by both parties since 1948, but it was the 83rd Congress which had the courage to legislate the action, Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson said here yesterday.

Benson stopped here enroute to Kansas. He conferred with state farm leaders and Republican congressional candidates.

He said the flexible farm price support program adopted by the Eisenhower administration and the 83rd Congress will not go into effect until the 1955 crop season.

This principle was favored by every agricultural secretary in the past 20 years, by President Truman and both parties, Benson said but "we haven't before had the courage to take the step to put it in operation."

"I think farmers overwhelmingly accept flexible supports. It's time to get back to a peacetime program.

"Farmers don't like controls and we don't like them either. I would like to eliminate all controls, and that's our objective."

He said less than 15 per cent of the farm income in Ohio is from supported basic commodities. He figures Ohio farm income to be $487 million for the first six months of 1954 compared with $479 million for the same period in 1953.

He said "if there has been a price decline, it has been under the old program."

McCarthy Urging GOP 'Close Ranks'

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis) said Republicans should forget their differences, "close ranks" and "concentrate on the election of a Republican Congress."

McCarthy made the statement in a letter to William Randolph Hearts Jr., publisher of the New York Journal-American, who queried the senator concerning reports that thousands of his followers would stay away from the polls Nov. 2 or support Democrats as a result of some GOP leaders' attitudes toward McCarthy's methods.

Italian Flood Toll May Reach 400

SALERNO, Italy (AP)—The wreckage of towns along the ravaged Gulf of Salerno gave up still more bodies today and the final death toll from Italy's greatest flood disaster was expected to reach 400.

The known dead numbered 288 this morning when seven more bodies were dug from wrecked homes at Molina di Vietri and Ponte Romano.

Hope was abandoned for many of the 200 or more persons listed as missing. It was believed many were swept out to sea or buried beneath their broken stone homes.

State funeral services were held in Salerno's cathedral today for victims of the flash floods and land slides which hit a 10-mile stretch of shoreline late Monday.

166 Amish Parents Defy School Order

MILLERSBURG (AP) — Holmes County school officials have ordered 166 Amish parents to send their children to school or face a jail sentence. The Amish religious sect is a branch of the Mennonites, an order which advocates scriptural authority and aloofness from state.

County School Superintendent D. C. Egger said the Amish families object to sending their children past the eighth grade. He said of the 166 warnings, some 150 families have not yet complied.

Egger said school officials had been lenient with the Amish issue in the past, but recently decided to be more strict.

Earlier this week, five Amish farmers were found guilty of refusing to provide education for their children. Juvenile Judge Hoy Russell set fines at $300 each and 30 days in jail but suspended action for 30 days to see if the children, aged 14 to 16, would be enrolled in school.

Egger said other cases are expected to start next week.

The five parents were John D. Yoder, Noah J. Miller, David Schlabach, Monroe Weaver and William Detwiler, all of this area.

Hunters, Age 5, Bag Pheasant

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — A pair of 5-year-old boys, armed with a broken toy shotgun, crowed happily over their hunting trophy—a live but dejected pheasant peering from an improvised coop.

The hunters, Jerry Lee Peck and Brian Maynard, surprised their parents when they brought home the bird, clutched in Jerry's arms.

The boys stoutly insist, "We shot it with our gun." Neither family has been able to solve the riddle.

GOP Challenging Harriman's Role

NEW YORK (AP) — The Republicans have challenged Democratic candidate Averell Harriman's eligibility to serve as governor, if elected. Retiring GOP Gov. Thomas E. Dewey said last night it is up to "the courts to decide" if Harriman lost his eligibility by voting two years ago in a Washington, D. C. primary.

Harriman, who is opposing Republican Sen. Irving M. Ives, claims his primary vote was as informal "as a vote for your favorite baseball player" and did not impair the legality of his New York residence or his right to hold office there.

Record Chalked

CHICAGO (AP)—United Air Lines said that a UAL DC07 set a new commercial speed record of five hours seven minutes yesterday for the Chicago-Los Angeles flight.

WITH MOMENTUM of a 10-ton load of tomatoes behind it, no wonder this truck is wedged between concrete pillar of San Francisco Bay bridge and building. It went out of control. Policeman points to smashed windshield through which driver Lee Pirrone (on hood) climbed to safety. Incidentally, the tomatoes got to market.

C. H. May Recalls 24 Years Served On School Board

Veteran Circleville Attorney Backs Bond Issue; Declares Schools Second Only To Churches

A Circleville attorney who, for nearly a quarter-century in "the old days" served as a member of the city board of education, called Thursday for wholehearted public support behind the proposed school bond issue.

Charles H. May, prominent community leader, pointed out that the funds to be raised by the bond issue "are essential for the growth and development of one of the most precious parts of any community—its school system." May is well qualified to speak on Circleville's schools, having served as a member of the school board from 1917 until 1941.

During all but four years of that 24-year span, he was president of the board. While stressing that he has not had an opportunity to make a close study of current problems faced by the school system, May declared there is no doubt about the merits in the bond issue's general purpose.

"I am not closely familiar with all the obstacles they have at this particular time," he said, "but I am glad to endorse the bond issue because it represents the spirit of looking forward. And those in control of a community's school system must always do that.

* * *

"THE MONEY will be for an extremely important cause, and it can't be raised in any other way. There was a time, I recall, when we made little improvements here and there by skimping a bit and using a bit of the tax money.

"But the times when you could do that are gone now, and we must all remember that. Operation of our schools has grown to be too big a job for such methods. Large amounts of money are needed."

May ranked schools second only to churches in the topmost assets of a growing community. Good hospital service, he added, can be considered third.

Any community's fire department must also be highly rated, May said, in turning briefly to the fire protection levy proposed for Circleville. The fire levy, along with the school bond issue and the school operating levy, up for renewal, will be placed before the voters here in next Tuesday's balloting.

"You can certainly say that the fire levy is every bit as worthy as the school bond issue," the attorney said. "Every community needs an up-to-date fire department, not only to hold down the fire insurance rate, but also because we all know that a fire department—when it is needed—is needed in a hurry."

First major project to be undertaken after May became a member of the school board was to plan construction of a new high school building and a new structure for Corwin grade school.

* * *

THE NEW high school building was erected a short distance west of Old Everts High School, built in the 1870's. Construction of the new quarters for the high school students begin to signal the end of the "Old Everts era", revered in memory by many residents of the district.

Also during May's time as a member of the board, the high school building was joined to the Corwin Street structure. All of the other elementary schools were operating at that time with the exception of Atwater School.

To finance the school expansion program which began to get under way at the close of World War I, May recalled:

"We had a $130,000 bond issue, and it was passed with very little difficulty. The people were all for it, even though that amount of money meant a lot in those days."

Hemingway Wins '54 Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM (AP)—American novelist Ernest Hemingway today won the 1954 Nobel Prize for literature.

The 56-year-old writer, whose hard-boiled style and violence-packed tales set a pattern for 20th Century prose the world around, will receive a gold medal and a check for about $35,000.

The literary prize and the annual awards in medicine, chemistry and physics will be presented by Sweden's King Gustaf Adolf VI at a ceremony Dec. 10.

Freak Explosion Kills 3 Firemen

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Three fire department officers were killed and 24 other firemen and policemen injured today in an explosion at a North Philadelphia chemical manufacturing plant.

The violent blast, without any fire, occurred minutes after a telephoned warning summoned the fire company to investigate the source of escaping fumes.

A 15-foot-high steel tank mounted on a wooden platform in one corner of the yard exploded without warning as firemen searched for the source of the fumes. The explosion slammed the firemen and policemen with terrific force against two brick walls enclosing the area.

District Voters Share Apathy Across Nation

But Party Workers Know Late Break Can Upset Plans

On the surface, at least, the yawning attitude among voters toward next Tuesday's balloting, a lukewarm interest reported from many sections of the nation, continued to prevail Thursday in Pickaway County.

But few if any party workers were willing to say how strong the tides were running beneath. Or what the chances were of a last minute development turning some of the local races into last-minute, vote-grabbing tussles.

Veteran political leaders for the district were dashing off their usual predictions along strict party lines—in public. But most of them, long trained to respect the "silent voter", were willing to speculate in the quiet huddles of Circleville's city hall and Pickaway County courthouse.

The "silent voter", they knew, could become an extremely noisy customer before the final tabulations are in next Tuesday.

* * *

THEY WERE aware too that the jittery days are at hand—the few remaining before the voters go to the polls. A late development or two now could inject high fever into an otherwise quiet election, and only the reckless indeed would wager that this will not happen.

For the time being, however, party workers were content to pretend that the rumbling scene was still going quietly about its business, keeping their fingers crossed on one hand and trying to buttonhole prospective voters with the other.

Befitting the Halloween season, the party regulars were whistling among the tombstones—some for a news break "that could blow the roof off city hall", and others for the lid to hold tight over the touchy spots at least until the votes are counted.

Proposed amendments to the state constitution appeared to be drawing little attention from the district electorate, far less in fact than the several issues to be placed before voters in some of the smaller subdivisions.

Only in reference to the three top issues for the Circleville area was there any degree of anxiety showing on the surface.

The proposed bond issue to finance a long-range school building program in the city appeared to be gaining strength in steady stride, thanks to a well-organized promotion campaign which got under way early and continues to have the benefit of enthusiastic leadership.

* * *

TAGGING ALONG with the bright chances seen for the bond issue was the school operating levy, sharing in the same optimism.

The past few days have also brought a brighter outlook for the fire protection levy, which would raise about $45,000 to buy a new city fire truck and pay the salaries of additional firemen. Endorsement by the Chamber of Commerce and the Circleville Kiwanis Club, announced Wednesday, seemed to provide a timely shot in the arm for a cause that appeared to get away to a sluggish start.

Individual community leaders were beginning to voice support for the levy, and Fire Chief Talmer Wise's appeal for more public support was expected to draw other organized groups into the fold before the voting starts.

It was becoming increasingly apparent that most of the civic and social groups on record for the school bond issue had not intentionally ignored the fire levy. In a number of cases they indicated steps were under way to hurry last-minute endorsement for the fire levy as well.

As always, the voting prepara-

Most Of Nation Clear, Cool Today

CHICAGO (AP)—It was clear and a little on the cool side in most sections of the country today.

The cool air spread eastward through the Ohio Valley across the Appalachians to the Middle Atlantic States. Warmest spots were in southern Texas, Florida and in southern California.

Temperatures dropped to the 30s and 40s over most of the northeastern third of the nation. One of the wintry spots was in the White Mountains of New Hampshire. The weather station at Mt. Washington reported snow, winds of 71 miles per hour and 14 degrees above zero.

Remodeled Store Plans Sales Event

The Murphy store at 101-3 W. Main Street, will hold a two day sales event Friday and Saturday in conjunction with the modernizing and enlarging of the store that has been completed.

The store interior has been revamped and many space saver counters and displays have been installed on the sales floor to provide a more efficient service. The new fixtures have increased the selling space approximately 38 per cent, thus enabling the store to offer a more extensive line and assortment of merchandise.

Manager D. D. Henkle said, "The Murphy Company has always been anxious to offer better service-better stores. We are sincere in believing that the citizens of Circleville and vicinity are as proud of our newly equipped store as we are. To celebrate our official opening, we are staging a mammoth store wide sales event, with exceptional values in every department.

The opening of the remodeled Murphy store will be under the supervision of G. B. Shaw, district manager, and D. D. Henkle, store manager.

Need Baby-Sitter On Election Day?

A handy election day memo for residents of the Ashville district comes from Ashville Senior Girl Scout Troop 16.

Members of the troop will offer baby-sitting assistance between 3:45 p. m. and 6:30 p. m. on election day, next Tuesday. Anyone interested should call Ashville 3261.

Arrangements at that number can be made through Mrs. Stanley Stout.

SHOWN ABOVE is the type of fire pumper the city of Circleville will be able to purchase if voters next Tuesday approve the fire protection levy. In addition to the truck purchase, the levy would also provide funds for the hiring of two additional firemen. The pumper shown is of the 750-1,000 gallon class. Instead of the apparatus illustrated, the city would be able to purchase a combination pumper-aerial ladder truck if preferred. The pumper shown is manufactured by the Seagrave Corp., but city officials emphasized that no decisions of any sort can be made in reference to new equipment until voters approve the levy.

Legion In Favor Of Fire Proposal

Public support for the fire protection levy proposed for Circleville continued to gain momentum Thursday with the announcement that it has the endorsement of the local American Legion.

Commander Bob Liston of Hall-Adkins Post said the Legion had voted "100 percent" in favor of the levy, which would provide funds for modern fire apparatus and to pay the salaries of additional firemen.

Coming on the heels of similar announcements by the Chamber of Commerce and the Circleville Kiwanis Club, the Legionnaire backing caused prospects for the levy to climb sharply.

Fire Chief Talmer Wise, who recently opened a series of appeals for more public support behind the levy, said he felt confident other organizations would likewise give it official approval before the voters go to the polls next Tuesday. If the voters approve the levy, approximately $45,000 will become available for the fire department improvements.

Boost School Issue

Latest organization to announce support for Circleville's school bond issue is the American Legion. Bob Liston, commander of the local Legionnaires, said they are for the bond issue and the school operating levy "100 percent."

Letter To The Editor

The Circleville Herald encourages letters to the editor on pertinent subjects of local interest. However, unsigned letters will be disregarded. Nom de plume will be used if requested.

Editor, The Herald:

Did I hear someone say we needed more policemen in this town? No, we don't need more, we just need some to carry out their duty. Then we would have enough.

Wednesday night someone tried to break into my house. I screamed, ran to the phone, and called the police. They came in about fifteen minutes, asked me if everything was all right, didn't bother to look around the house or anything else.

My husband was doing his duty, working for the J. C.'s trying to better the town. I asked the police if one would stay with me while the other one went to get my husband. Do you know what they said, well I quote: "I'm sorry madam, but we have to ride in the parade, but we will go and tell your husband," end of quote.

Do you call that police protection? Well if you do I'm sorry I can't see eye to eye with you.

By the way, our neighbor's house was broken into the same night probably while the police were talking to me.

I think the only reason we have policemen in this town is so they can ride in the parades every Pumpkin Show to show off their uniforms. If some of them would stop to think why they are wearing their uniforms, this town would be better protected. Don't you agree with me?

Truck-Trailer Overturns As Two Are Hurt

A huge grocery truck-trailer overturned one mile north of Derby Wednesday afternoon.

The driver and a passenger were injured and taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital in Columbus. Lester Larrison, 44, of Columbus, the driver, received a laceration on the top of his head. William Allison, 55, suffered a back injury.

Deputy Sheriff Dwight Radcliff reported the truck, traveling north on Route 62, attempted to pass a farm tractor. In doing so, Larrison suddenly noticed a south-bound car bearing down.

Larrison, in order to avoid a collision with either vehicle, ran the truck-trailer off the highway. The accident scene was at the intersection of Route 3.

THE TRUCK-TRAILER, carrying between 25,000 and 28,000 pounds of produce, later caught fire but the blaze was extinguished quickly.

Mt. Sterling police aided Deputy Radcliff and Special Deputy Bill Stout in directing traffic, a chore which took nearly six hours.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

EDWIN WINSHIP

Edwin Elton Winship of 233 S. Scioto St died at 12:15 p. m. Wednesday in St. Francis Hospital, Columbus. Mr. Winship was born Feb. 14, 1867, in Circleville, a son of Edwin E. and Mary Bricker Winship. He was a retired farmer.

Surviving him are his wife, Mary Albaugh Winship; a son, William Harry Winship of Mears, Mich.; a daughter, Mrs. Anna Louise Loomis of Constantine, Mich.; two grandchildren and two nieces, Mrs. Lilliam Moore of Circleville and Miss Virginia Winship of Battlecreek, Mich.

Funeral serices will be held at 1:30 p. m. Saturday in Mader Funeral Chapel with the Rev. Jack Bennett officiating. Burial will be in Forest Cemetery.

Friends may call in the chapel after Friday noon.

Death Of Man Ruled Natural By Coroner

A 43-year old man, found dead Wednesday afternoon in an Orient Route 2 home, died from natural causes, according to a ruling by Pickaway County Coroner Dr. Ray Carroll.

Albert W. Foreman, a crippled World War 11 veteran, was discovered on a bed in the home in which he had been staying. Mrs. A. Ehman's found his body at 4:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Foreman had worked for Mrs. Ehman's husband, Aden, before the war. He received shrapnel wounds to his spine and spent considerable time in a hospital.

His injuries caused Foreman to be paralized and he returned to the Ehman home to stay following his discharge from the hospital.

* * *

MRS. EHMAN said Foreman complained of indigestion a day ago and took medicine for releaf.

She apparently was the last one to see him alive, according to the report made by Deputy Sheriff Carl Radcliff.

Mrs. Ehman told the deputy Foreman had asked her to close the slide on his door. That was at 3:30 p m., she recalled.

Foreman's body was taken to the Norris Funeral Home in Grove City where Dr. Carroll made his ruling.

Court Action Curbs State Racing Panel

Commission Attempts To Rule Man Off Tracks In Ohio

COLUMBUS (AP)—Chairman Zoltan Gombos said yesterday court action prevents the Ohio Racing Commission from ruling Henry Green of Shaker Heights off race tracks in the state.

Green is vice president of Ohio Sports Enterprises, Inc., that operates a track at Hamilton. Green also is connected with other Ohio tracks.

The commission recently ended hearings on charges that Green barred a track inspector from a mutuel room at Hamilton where daily double bets were tabulated.

Before the commission could reach a decision, counsel for Green obtained an order from the Second District Court of Appeals temporarily blocking commission action against Green.

The court directed the commission "to show cause" by Nov. 13 why a writ of prohibition should not be issued to prevent any action against Green.

Paul M. Herbert of Columbus, counsel for Green, contended the commission lacked power to enforce penalties. He said the Administrative Procedures Act, which controls operations of governmental agencies, requires specific authority for agencies to impose penalties. He said the statute reads:

"No adjudication order of any agency shall be valid unless said agency is specifically authorized by law to make such order."

Herbert contended the commission lacks specific statutory authority to enforce penalties except issuance or denial of track permits.

Gombos expressed concern over the attack on the commission's power to enforce its penalties.

Thomas R. Lloyd, assistant Ohio attorney general, said the commission's power previously had been challenged but never decided in court.

The commission adopted this statement:

"After consideration of the testimony brought out at two recent public hearings, the Ohio State Racing Commission informally agreed that Henry Green, vice president of Ohio Sports Enterprises Inc., should be barred from the turf in Ohio.

"However, in deference to the Second District Court of Appeals, in which an action in prohibition is presently pending, seeking to prohibit any action by the commission in the Green case, no formal action was taken by the commission . . . .

"The commission also discussed the question whether the act committed by Henry Green was also an act of the corporation conducting race meetings at Hamilton, Ohio, and whether any action should be taken against the corporation of which Green is vice president."

All three commission members approved the statement. A fourth seat on the commission is vacant.

Pin-Ball Gadget Cited In Divorces

TOKYO (AP) — Japan's pin-ball craze—it's called "pachinko" here—has hit the divorce courts.

The game has been named "co-respondent" in eight divorce cases this year by Japanese husbands and wives who complained their mates spent too much time—and money—at it.

'Big Steel' Expects '55 To Be Better

NEW YORK (AP) — Benjamin F. Fairless, board chairman of United States Steel Corp. believes the nation's economy will be more prosperous in 1955 than this year.

For the steel industry he predicts "a good year, a better steel year than 1954."

He said reduction of steel inventories in the current year has been responsible for the lower operating rate but that this process should work in reverse next year.

At present, he said, steel inventories of the automobile companies are too low to produce the forthcoming new models. He added this condition is "quite general."

Fairless expressed his opinions after the board of directors of the world's biggest steel producer declared recently the usual dividend of 75 cents a share on common stock payable Dec. 10 to holders of record Nov. 5.

The company, maker of a third of the nation's steel, reported third quarter earnings of $44,323,860, equal to $1.4 a share, compared with $49,020 738, or $1.63 a share for the second quarter, and $61,706,264, or $2.12 a share for the third quarter of last year, a record-breaking year both for U. S. Steel and the entire American steelmaking industry.

The nine months earnings were $138,174,974, or $4.55 a share, compared with $166,723,028, or $5.66 a share for the like period last year.

The 1954 nine months' net represented a return of 5.7 per cent on sales, exactly the same return as for the like period of '53.

Bout For Prince Charles Canceled

LONDON (AP)— Maybe Buckingham Palace figures Prince Charles needs a couple of warmup fights before they toss him in there with that fleaweight champion from America.

Anyway, a scheduled boxing bout at the palace today between the prince, who is almost 6, and Stephen Rutter, who already is, has been canceled.

"I had a call from the palace to tell me that Stephen would not be needed," said the Yank battler's father, Peter, who is second secretary at the U.S. Embassy. "I don't know why."

The Duke of Edinburgh, polo-playing husband of Queen Elizabet II and father of the prince, reportedly decided the future king should learn to box.

Hal Boyle Says:

Hungry Writers Do Better

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — "I have a morbid interest in money," confessed George Axelrod who wrote in 60 hours a Broadway play he says will earn him $1 million.

For the actual time he spent at the typewriter in turning out "The Seven Year Itch," this comes to $16,666.66 an hour.

Axelrod, who is 32, wears a crew cut, and looks like a fugitive Princeton freshman, thinks this would be a fair rate of pay for a writer if he got to keep the money.

But of course, he doesn't. Today it may take more time to figure out the income tax on a hit play than it does to write it.

"You work for years and starve," said George wryly, "and then when you hit the big loot they take it away.

"Money is no longer enough. A writer needs some new kind of payment that can't be taken away, such as a guarantee your golf score will improve. Or they might promise to add two years to your life or, in my case, agree to find a way to make my front teeth come together."

But until something better does come along Axelrod has decided money is about the best all-around substitute.

"Writing doesn't count unless you get paid for it," he said. "I can't even write a letter to my son now unless he promises to send me a buck for it.

"Art is a byproduct of writing for money. Shakespeare wrote because he needed dough. You always write better when you're hungry.

"It's much harder to write unless you have to do it to meet bills. This is still no problem on me. I always manage to have a few bills that need paying.

"But if you get good money, you've got to do a good job to earn it. I hate the guys who go to Hollywood with the loot-and-scoot idea, who grab all the big dough they can, do nothing, and then leave town complaining it's impossible to do creative work in the Hollywood atmosphere.

"I loved Hollywood. I had myself a real ball out there."

At 18, "after being thrown out of most of the good schools in the East," George became a bit actor on Broadway, confined to lines such as "Madam, Dinner is Served."

"I was a horrible actor, but I wanted to learn stage techniques," he said. "I knew that at 18 I couldn't write anything that people would pay $4.40 to see."

At 20 George watched the rehearsal of a radio show, then went home and turned out a script for one himself and sold it for $150.

"Since then I've turned out between 500 and 600 radio and TV shows," he said, "written two novels, and turned out gags and comedy sketches for Martin and Lewis, Peter Lind Hayes, Robert Q. Lewis, and many others.

"I was an Army private for three years, digging holes for telephone poles for the Signal Corps in Europe. When I got out I had two really lean years before things turned better."

It was at his wife's insistence that Axelford wrote "The Seven Year Itch" in 1952. He did it in 15 four-hour sessions at the typewriter.

"After four hours I just pooh-ed out," he said.

Today George gets $75,000 for a movie script, double that amount if he furnishes the plot, too. He is currently polishing up a new musical, "The Rogers and Hart Songbook," and hopes to write "five or six of the greatest plays in the history of the world," then become a producer.

"There comes a time when you can't do it anymore," he said. "It happens to every writer. He wears out. Or at least he gets to the point where what he writes no longer pleases himself, and then the money alone isn't enough. It's time to quit.

"How can you tell? Well, it's the 17th morning in a row that nothing happens. That is the big fear in every writer—the awful morning when he knows he has nothing more to say."

Nonstop Oratory Record Is Sought

OLDHAM, England (AP) — Kevin Sheehan claimed a world record for nonstop oratory today. He has been talking continuously since Monday morning.

Rambling hoarsely toward his goal of 127 hours, the 25-year-old Irish babbler was already well beyond what he said was the previous mark of 36 hours—"held by some Russian."

Sheehan is holding forth in a local ballroom.

He reported to newsmen:

"I am suffering from headaches and swollen glands but I am going to carry on until my record is unbeatable."

His topic: "The Uncanny Things of Life."

Marion Firm Buys Bucyrus Company

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Co., a Columbus investment firm, announced an agreement in which the Huber Mfg. Co. of Marion would acquire controlling interest in the W. A. Riddell Corp. of Bucyrus.

The negotiations were handled through Ewing T. Boles, president of the Ohio Co. Boles is a director of both Huber and Riddell.

The two companies agreed to "explore the desirability of a tax-free plan of exchange of stock."

Huber manufactures road rollers, graders and maintainers and Riddell produces motor graders.

A CIVIC DUTY—

In the past, the Circleville community has loyally supported its schools. Our citizens have been proud of their schools and have shown interest in providing their boys and girls with good educational opportunities.

We are confident that they again will register their support at the polls on November 2.

The school bond issue comes to you after careful thought and study by the Board of Education, members of the staff and citizen groups. We regard it as a "MUST" in maintaining an educational program that will meet with your approval.

Most Circleville people, we feel sure, are for this school improvement. But being for it isn't enough in meeting your CIVIC DUTY.

Only VOTES FOR on November 2 will count!

C. H. May Tells Of Years On School Board

For a relatively long period later in his tensure as a school board member, May said the city enrollment showed only a small annual increase. Approximately 1,500 pupils were enrolled during each of the years leading up to 1940.

However, the present city school enrollment is 2,384 and May pointed to the fact that the rate of increase has been especially noticeable during recent years. This, plus all the signs of continued growth in Circleville, he said, gives ample justification for the steps represented by the bond issue proposal.

* * *

"CIRCLEVILLE is having a healthy growth," he said. "It isn't a boom, but it is a healthy and substantial growth. And our schools must grow with the city. We must accept the fact."

May warned than even the pending bond ussue cannot be expected to meet the needs of the school system over a long period of time if the city continues to grow at its present rate.

"All things cost money," he said, "and we must, as a city, be ready to make some sacrifices in order to have the things we need so much Second only to our churches are the schools, in the scale of community values.

"I am not in position to judge details of the building program outlined for the school system during the years immediately ahead. Perhaps, in addition to what they (school officials) see in the way of immediate needs, they are planning a little ahead of our time.

"But most certainly that is what they should always do.

"I never had the pleasure of knowing Mr. Hartman (George Hartman, superintendent of city schools) before he came to Circleville, but he seems to be a fine man. And all reports indicate he is doing a good job."

* * *

MAY DECLINED to comment specifically on the current salary scales paid city teachers, but he emphasized that "school teachers and the other educators are among the most important people in our community, and they deserve to be paid a scale commensurate with the current average in similar professions."

In reference to the bond issue, he especially noted that the cost of labor and materials has climbed steadily since "the old days" of the school system. And he warned that voters, in weighing the merits of the bond issue, must not be misled into measuring the present planning alongside the expenditures deemed sufficient in the past.

"I remember how a superintendent in my time got about $1,800 a year," he said. "And some teachers were paid about $750. I myself taught for two years and received $40 a month for nine months, and walked eight miles each day, going to and returning from school!

"Furthermore, I had to build the fires and cleaned out the rooms, too!

"But all of that is of a bygone time. And we must adjust ourselves, and our way thinking to the changing years. Everything costs much more now. We get more for services and for products, and we live on a higher level.

"It's true I know some may feel that some of the modern ways in education are largely unnecessary. In our day we had crowded classrooms, often an entire class in the one room—whereas now the trend is toward larger rooms, small class groups, and more specialized methods all around.

* * *

"BUT THIS change over the years has been all for the better. As a metter of fact, I feel that in some respects education still isn't specialized enough.

"Modern educational methods have proven themselves. They produce better results.

"All of us, now and then, like to live a little in the past. It's a natural thing to do. But for our schools, especially, we must always look ahead—and work toward what we feel will be better standards for the future."

BUC Reminds Employers On Reports Due

Pickaway County employers who have not yet sent in their contribution reports and remittances for the third quarter have been given a "last call" reminder by the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation. The third quarter ended Sept. 30.

Under Ohio law, the due date for such reports and remittances is the last day of the calendar quarter, but employers are given until the end of the following month (Oct. 31) to comply with the law's provisions and thus avoid the payment of penalties and interest charges.

Ernest Cornell BUC administrator, said that any employer who is not sure whether he is liable under the law for the payment of contributions should write to the BUC's Contribution Department to determine his liability status.

Cornell said that with certain specified exceptions, the law covers any employer who has three individuals on his payroll on any one day. When he first becomes liable by hiring three or more workers, Cornell said, his liability goes back to the beginning day of the calendar quarter in which three workers first were hired, and continues throughout the remaining quarters of the calendar year and all of the succeeding calendar year as well.

After incurring liability, every employer remains liable even though he ceases to employ as many as three workers. He must continue to make contribution reports and pay taxes on all taxable wages received by his remaining employees for the rest of the year and the succeeding year, Cornell said.

CLEVELAND (AP)—The F. C. Russell Co. has purchased the Prime Window Division of the Hunter Manufacturing Co., a Bristol, Pa., concern. The Russell firm said the new operatior would be moved to its aluminum manufacturing plant at Cambridge.

Why VITAMINS?

Vitamins are indispensable to the proper utilization of foods so that the body may have energy for work and be able to keep the various organs and tissues in a healthy state. Vitamins are necessary for normal growth of children and for continued health and vigor of persons of all ages.

Modern processing of foods often removes vitamins, particlarly the vitamin B complex. Storage and transportation also decrease the vitamin content of many foods.

In view of the difficulty which often arises in supplying an adequate intake of vitamins in the usual diet, administration of essential vitamins is frequently highly desirable. However, the infant, the teen-ager, the adult, the person recovering from illness, and the woman expecting a baby have different vitamin needs and no one product fits them all. Few adults know their vitamins well enough to select them properly, so they wisely rely upon their physician or their pharmacist to advise them or to supply them with exactly the product they need. In vitamins, as in all matters affecting your health, there is no substitute for professional guidance.

CONTAMINATED WHEAT?

CHARGES HAVE been made in Los Angeles that contaminated Kansas wheat is mixed with good wheat and processed in violation of the pure food laws and despite state inspection. Vigorous denials have emanated from Kansas, but they have the earmarks of being tainted by state pride and fear that if the charges are proved true there may be a further reduction in use of flour.

It is a fact that the milling industry is constantly on guard against insanitary practices. State and federal governments have hundreds of inspectors who are presumed to be the epitome of vigilant alertness. The milling industry has called a sanitation conference in Kansas City to discuss new techniques to insure maximum sanitation in grain and its products.

Wheat has been one of the victims of changing dietary customs in America. Per capita consumption is considerably smaller than it was at the beginning of this century. That is one reason why surplus wheat in government storage nears the one billion-bushel mark.

This surplus could result in contaminated wheat reaching the market. Storage facilities are not of the best, and in the past wheat was seldom held in storage for several years.

LESSON IN SAFETY

LOS ANGELES has given a demonstration in traffic safety which could be adopted by other cities as a pattern for future safety drives.

In 1938 Los Angeles had the worst traffic record in the nation. That year 472 persons died on the city's streets as the result of traffic accidents. Chances of being killed were two and one-half times as great as in any other city.

Then came the change that made streets in Los Angeles the safest of any in the country. Joseph M. Kaplan, manager of the Greater Los Angeles Safety Council, tells how this was brought about.

Instead of depending on police and safety officials to get the job done it was made the obligation of the entire community. It became an attitude of mind on the part of motorists generally. As a result Los Angeles last year won the Natoinal Safety Council's grand award for traffic safety.

Traffic safety still needs leadership and of the highest capacity. But it must have complete cooperation on the part of motorists, who think safety when they are behind the wheel. There can be no competition for the motorist's attention when the business of saving lives is involved.

The Chicago flood came on the 83rd anniversary of the fire started when Mrs. O'Leary's cow kicked over the lantern, which was a bit too late to assist in putting out the blaze.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

A new term has come into international politics, Enosis, and it means the transference of allegiance of a people on an ethnical basis.

Self-determination usually has a connotation of separation, of the establishing of a new country, as, for instance, Finland separating from Russia, but enosis does not demand separation. Cyprus is now British; the enosis movement in Cyprus calls not for freedom but for shifting that island from Great Britain to Greece because most of the people are Greeks.

The minority are Turks, but some Cypriots, while regarding themselves as Greeks, are probably of Turkish origin. Who can tell what is the ethnic origin of anyone in the Mediterranean melting pot? In reality, the basis for enosis in Cyprus is not ethnical but religious.

Those who belong to the Greek Orthodox Church consider themselves Greeks whether their ancestors were Turkish, Syrian or Egyptian. Those who are Moslem are accepted as Turks.

The Communists, who are very numerous, are mostly Greeks. It is the Communist factor in this situation that makes the government of Greece less than enthusiastic about the transference of title to the island, although it would be politically inadvisable for it not to give the impression of desiring that all Greeks should be affiliated with Greece. Greece does not want more Communists then she already has.

Geographically, Cyprus lies off the coast of Turkey and Syria. Its possessor could bottle up the whole of southern and eastern Turkey's outlets on the Mediterranean. In the present relations between Greece and Turkey, it is unfortunate that the question of Cyprus should be raised, but the Kremlin thinks of everything. The master-minds of confusion will do anything to embarrass Turkey.

The nature of the enosis movement may be judged by the following paragraph from a clandestine broadcast station, Free Greece, delivered on August 4:

"It is clear to the people of Cyprus and Greece that the treacherous policy of Papagos and the whole Americanocracy on the Cyprus issue encouraged the English colonists and imperialists. It is apparent that the whole exploitation of the Cyprus question by the Marshal was directed at hiding his treachery to Cyprus. The Rally, which converted the whole of Greece into an American Cyprus, can only repretrate (sic) (possibly means perpetrate) treacheries with regard to the Cyprus issue."

Cyprus, the third largest island in the Mediterranean, has had a long history of the mingling of peoples, going back some 5,000 years. It has been held by Phoenicians, Assyrians, Egyptians, Persians, Greeks, the Romans, Venice, the Turks and, since 1878, by the British, although it was conquered by Richard the Lion-Hearted as far back as 1911.

The course of Empire has crossed over it in all the shiftings of power. The question of Cyprus is now before the United Nations, imperilling the alliance among Greece, Turkey and Yugoslavia which is so important to the American defense program. The future of Cyprus remains uncertain because Great Britain is opposed to relinquishing it and Turkey is opposed to its becoming part of Greece, and Greece does not really want it at present, but Greek nationalism and public opinion has been stirred.

CHAPTER FOURTEEN

IT WAS after four o'clock when I reached the Hollis farm. The place was deserted. No cars were around, and the cows were bunched up at the pasture gate waiting to be milked. Their plaintive bawling was somehow sad and lonely. Chickens were swarming in the fenced-off area of an apple orchard, and from the henhouse there came a raucous squawking. From somewhere nearby pigs were grunting and squealing. Two gray cats were bunched up on the back steps making pink-mouthed meows. As I approached, a stranger, they scampered away, stiff-tailed. Obviously, it was feeding time for a variety of creatures, and no one around to feed them. I looked about for the hired man, Rex Bishop, but I didn't see him, and I thought of our target-shooting date. The back door was unlocked. I went through the quiet kitchen and the deserted house and up the wide stairway to my room.

I undressed to my shorts, went down the hall to the bathroom, shaved and took a bath. Back in the room I lay on the soft bed for a while, half dozing, and decided that I wasn't adjusted to the fresh country air and the exercise. I could still hear the faint bawling of the cattle, and I thought uneasily that it wouldn't be like Homer Hollis to let his stock go unattended. Presently I heard a car come up the lane, and decided I'd better get dressed.

To me, the hour before dinner is the best time of day; a bath, clean clothes, a drink or two, the pleasant feeling of relaxation. But now my mind would not let me relax. As I dressed, I thought of the day's events and I knew whatever I did about them, if I was going to do anything, would have to be done tonight. Tomorrow was Sunday, and I was returning to Cleveland, with a full Monday's work facing me.

I put on a clean white shirt, blue knit tie, the gray flannel suit I'd worn from Cleveland, pocketed keys, cigarets, wallet, handkerchief and silver, when somebody knocked on my door. I opened it and gazed at Sandy's white face.

"Jim, Ralph's worse. We stayed at the hospital all afternoon. Dr. Mazzini is with him now, and Mom insisted upon coming home and getting supper for all of us. Eileen's here, too, and, well—I guess there's nothing to do but wait."

"What does the doctor say?"

"Not much, except that Ralph has a high fever. . . ."

"How high?"

"A hundred and four, when we left. Dr. Mazzini didn't tell us, but one of the nurses did. They put Ralph in an oxygen tent, and we can't see him." She began to cry quietly, her hands over her face.

I closed the door to my room, put my arm around her, and we walked along the hall to the stairway. She stopped, wiped her eyes. "Jim, I—I'm sorry. I thought it would be fun having you down here, with my family, and the hunting, but—"

"Never mind." I patted her cheek. "It couldn't be helped."

Something like anger shone in her eyes. "You'd think that she'd have the courtesy to at least ask how Ralph is. She shot him, and she hasn't called, or been to the hospital to ask about him."

"Never mind," I said again, thinking that now was not the time to tell of my visit with Judy Kirkland.

She said, "Dad told me you went into town for lunch. What did you do all afternoon?"

"Oh, gawked at the people, took a walk in the woods."

"It's been boring, hasn't it?"

"Not at all," I said, and I meant it.

She took my hand. "Come on. It'll be a little while until supper. You make us a drink."

Down in the big living room I saw that she'd put out gin, ice and vermouth, and a fresh fire was burning in the fireplace. Eileen Fortune sat on a divan near the fire, and from the kitchen I heard Mrs. Hollis bustling about. Homer, I thought, was out in the barn helping Rex Bishop with the evening chores. At least, the bawling of the cattle had stopped. Eileen Fortune turned and gave me a wan smile. She was pale, and she needed some lipstick on her small, thin lips. I smiled at her, said, "Hi," and moved to the table bearing the martini ingredients.

Sandy said, "Make me one, Jim. I'll be right back." She went out to the kitchen, where I heard her talking to her mother.

I made the drinks and carried one over to Eileen before I remembered that she didn't drink. She looked up at me with sad eyes and shook her head. "No, thank you," she said softly.

"I forgot," I said. "Sorry."

"That's quite all right," she said seriously. "I don't smoke, either."

"Good for you," I said, trying to make my voice sincere. I sat down beside her and sipped from the glass intended for her. She gazed solemnly at the fire, and I had an opportunity to size her up at close range.

Her pale hair fell to her shoulders in soft curls. Her small face was delicate, but not quite in balance. As I'd noticed the evening before, her gray eyes were too far apart. Her chin was too sharp, her small nose almost too cutely tilted. She had left her vigil at the hospital long enough to change from her hunting clothes to a bluish tweed suit and a frilly white blouse. Stubby, high-heeled blue suede pumps were on her small feet, and she smelled faintly of one of the more obvious brands of drug store perfume.

But taken as a whole, Eileen Fortune was a girl any man could be proud of, and I guessed that she'd make a good wife for Ralph Hollis and they'd probably be very happy. And I gave her grudging credit for competing for Ralph, and apparently winning, against a girl like Judy Kirkland. But I liked Ralph, and I was a little dubious about his second choice of women. Eileen seemed pale beside Judy, and it seemed to me that she would have been quite happy with Earl Seltzman, and he, most certainly, would have cherished her dearly. I sighed and wondered once more why nothing ever worked out right; Earl loved Eileen. Eileen loved Ralph—anyhow, she was going to marry him, if he lived. Judy loved Ralph, too, or did love him. Dr. Mazzini was no doubt crazy about Judy. But what about Ralph? Did he still love Judy and was contenting himself with Eileen, because he couldn't forget or forgive what he saw in Judy's house that afternoon? Ralph was the vortex, the key figure. If he died, Earl Seltzman would be free to woo Eileen again. Judy could forget her jealousy and the haunted feeling of guilt and betrayal. Dr. Mazzini, with Ralph gone, could have Judy to himself—if that was what he wanted.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG
news behind the news

By Ray Tucker

WASHINGTON—Harry S. Truman has finally taken a job!

The former President is now serving as parttime and honorary circulation manager for the Democrat Digest, the monthly magazine issued by the Democratic National Committee from its headquarters here.

It has not been a howling success since it went on sale more than a year ago at 25 cents a copy, for it consists largely of reprints of favorable newspaper articles.

In order to stir interest and subscriptions, Truman has sent out thousands of letters under his signature He urges "friends and fellow Democrats" (he has included many Republicans in both categories) to buy the Democratic Digest. His reasons for this solicitation are similar to his "whistle stop" phillipics in 1948 and 1952.

• • •

INDICTS PRESS — Truman's letters argue that purchase and perusal of this admittedly partisan publication are necessary in order to counteract and nullify the "poisonous" effect of what he calls the "one-party press." He uses that phrase twice in his salesmanship ballyhoo, although nowhere does he particularize his indictment.

The former president's anti-press prejudice amuses Washington politicians and newspaper correspondents, for the simple reason that, with the exception of F.D.R., no Democratic figure ever enjoyed better treatment from those who write for the newspapers. They headlined him far beyond his deserts when he headed the Senate Committee to Investigate National Defense.

It was the reporters' ultra-friendly accounts of Truman's defense inquiry which led F.D.R. in 1944, to notify the Democratic convention manipulators that his choices for Vice-President were Truman and Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas. And it was abrilliant and beloved newspaperman, now dead, who first suggested Truman's name to F. D. R.

• • •

HOSTILE—But the ironic aspect of former President Truman's denunciation is that higher bracket members of the Eisenhower household although not the President himself, regard the Washington press corps as generally hostile. They refer, particularly, to so-called "special writers" and columnists.

They have complained — privately, of course—that the newspapers concentrate on the destructive rather than the constructive side of the Washington situation.

In these off-the-record analyses, they mention press handling of such episodes as the McCarthy hunt for alleged Communists in government, the Oppenheimer inquiry, the AEC-TVA deal, and the Administration's conduct of foreign relations.

• • •

SECRECY—In fact, the businessmen who surround Eisenhower are actually afraid of the press!

This unexplainable and unjustified complex accounts for the secrecy with which they cloak so many important policy decisions To mention only a few there were the AEC-TVA negotiations, Sherman Adams' order that the private lives of federal employes be investigated, and Adams' role in the White House drive against McCarthy.

The lack of frankness toward the press, which actually represents the public interest, accounts for many of the Administration's difficulties and embarrassments.

• • •

UNAPPRECIATIVE — This twin condemnation of the Washington press corps — Truman's and that of the present Administration—suggests that everybody is out of step except the reporters. The fact is that almost all politicians and public officials eventually feel that the newspapers are against them.

No American Presidents got more freely given publicity than Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower But F D R. and Harry bit the hand that made them, with their denunciations of the "one-party press," and Truman's declaration as political circulation manager for the Democratic Digest.

In 35 years devoted to the study and writing of politics and government, I recall only two figures grateful rather than inimical toward their press—the late Alfred E. Smith and James A. Farley.

Women's Clubs Association Committees Are Appointed

Mrs. Tom Renick Conducts Session

Mrs. Tom A. Renick, group president, appointed her standing committees for the coming year during a meeting of the Pickaway County Association of Women's Clubs, which was held in the social rooms of the Presbyterian church.

Members of a ways and means committee, responsible for fund-raising projects of the association, are:

Miss Alice Ada May, chairman; Mrs. R. R. Bales, co-chairman; Mrs. Ned Griner, Mrs. H. N. Stevenson, Mrs Charles H. May, Mrs. Luther Bower, Mrs Waldo Martin, Mrs. Joe Wilson, Mrs. Lawrence Goeller Jr., Miss Mary Heffner and Miss Ann Gordon.

A public relations committee was appointed to establish good public relations, to contact new groups in the community and to handle newspaper publicity.

Members of this group are: Mrs. Richard Funk, chairman, Mrs. Francis McGinnis, Miss Marie Hamilton, and Mrs James Moffitt.

One representative of each club in the organization serves on a house committee, which arranges the Spring social session, the one social event of the year.

New committee members are: Mrs. Kenneth Luna, of Junior Woman's Club, chairman; Mrs. Henry Schroeder, Child Conservation League; Mrs. Frank Moore, Auxiliary of the Pickaway County Medical Association; Mrs. Richard Jones, Business and Professional Women's Club; Mrs. Robert Valentine, Child Advancement Club; Mrs. Richard Wilson, Newcomers Club; Mrs. Kenneth Robbins, Monday Club; Mrs. Harold Anderson, Pickaway Garden Club; Miss Florence Dunton, Daughters of the American Revolution; Mrs. Robert Smith, Pickaway County Association of Nurses; and Mrs. Fritz Sieverts, Child Study Club.

Mrs. Richard Funk of the Junior Woman's Club is vice president of the group; Mrs. Francis McGinnis of the Child Study Club is recording secretary; Mrs. Paul White of the Pickaway Garden Club, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Norman Ritter of the Business and Professional Women, treasurer, and Miss Mary Heffner, DAR member, historian. Mrs Renick is a delegate from the Monday Club.

Introduction of the 17 members present, who represented 10 clubs, was followed by a short address of welcome by Mrs Renick. She urged the delegates to attend the association sessions and to report back to their groups on the ideas and ideals of the county organization.

A meeting of board members and chairmen of the standing committees was held following adjournment of the session.

Monday Club Holds Session On Rights, Duties To Vote

Mrs. Lawrence Johnson presided at a regular session of the Monday club in Memorial Hall. Discussions centered around the right and duty to vote.

Superintendent of city schools George Hartman was present to acquaint members with the necessity of passing the school bond issue and operating levy.

Mrs. Howard N. Stevenson presented a paper on "Our Right to Vote". She stressed the need of good government and stated that it can be determined only by the wisdom of the people.

"America on the whole," said Mrs. Stevenson, "Has never been properly prepared for governmental duties, and much needs to be done to raise the politcial standards.

"A citizen who is an asset to his country forms the habit of following current developments closely, and eventually discovers that political activities become an enjoyable part of daily existence. Well-rounded citizenship calls for proper consideration of international, national and local issues."

"The first prerequisite," Mrs. Stevenson continued, "in preserving our republican form of government is to exercise our right of franchise. Elect men and women who not only believe in representative government, but those who practice it. One should not complain about laxity in government and then sit idly by, doing nothing about it."

Mrs. G. D. Phillips read a paper prepared by Mrs. Robert Adkins. Her topic was, "Cast Your Ballot". The writer pointed out that the most important day in a democratic government is election day. Governments derive powers from decisions made by the voters on that day.

The author stressed the obligations of the voter, such as acquainting himself with the issues and with the candidates. His obligation does not end on election day, Mrs. Adkins pointed out, but the voter needs to check from time to time on how the official is administering his office.

During a business session, announcement was made of the district meeting of the group to be held Friday in Jackson.

Mrs. John Eslelman announced that Ohio calendars for 1955 had been received and are now on sale. Mrs. Edwin Jury stated that a sale of articles from the School of the Blind will be held Dec. 6.

The next meeting will be held Nov. 8, when Charles Will will be the guest speaker.

Personals

Mrs. Lloyd Horning of Atwater Ave. will be hostess to a workshop of Berger Hospital Guild 21 at 2 p. m. Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Bitzer of 415 E. Mound St. have returned to Circleville following a trip to Virginia Beach, Norfolk, Va. and other points of interest in Virginia, Tennessee, West Virginia, and North and South Carolina.

Kingston Garden Club will meet at 2 p. m. Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Ralph Head of Circleville Route 1. Assisting hostesses will be Mrs. Don Miller and Miss Ruth McKenzie.

Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War will meet at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in the Post Room of Memorial Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Matheny and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Matheny of Columbus were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Funk and family of E. Main St. and Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Bowers and family of S. Court St.

Surprise Dinner Marks Birthday Of Mrs. Turney

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Griffith entertained with a surprise dinner marking the birthday of Mrs. Robert R. Turney.

The event was held in the Tarlton home of the hosts, where a table was centered with a traditional birthday cake, surrounded by gifts for the honored guest. Games and contests provided entertainment during the evening.

Guests included:

Mrs. Turney, honored guest; Mr. Turney and daughter, Elaine, Mrs. Sam Kuhn, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Turney, Keith Turney, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Turney, Miss Gladys Turney, Charles Hawks and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rymer and children.

Mrs. Lillie Morrison, Mrs. Jane Coder, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Singelton, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Waites, Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Wasem and daughters, Donna and Benny Griffith and the hosts. A gift also was received from Mr. and Mrs. Glen Matthews.

Ruth Norpoth Is Guest Of Honor At Bridal Shower

Mrs. J. C. Rader of 240 E. Franklin St. was hostess to a shower held Wednesday evening in honor of Miss Ruth Norpoth, bride-elect of Joseph LaFontaine.

Arrangements of Fall flowers decorated the home for the occasion and gifts were placed on a table decorated in pink and aqua.

Games and contests provided entertainment. Contest winners were Mrs. William Goode and Mrs. Paul Hang. Refreshments in keeping with the theme of the event were served by the hostess at the close of the evening.

Guests at the affair included:

Miss Norpoth, honored guest, Mrs. Robert Norpoth, Mrs. Forest Short, Mrs. Joesph Goeller, Mrs. Frank Susa, Mrs. P. J. White, Mrs. Everett Stocklin, Mrs. Tom Gilliland, Mrs. William Goeller and Mrs. Ned Landis.

Mrs. Joseph Good, Mrs. Ross Phillips, Mrs. John Larimer, Mrs. Myron Schelb, Mrs. Donald Mason, Mrs. Hang Mrs. Goode, Mrs. Alma Ellis, Miss Marie Morshauser, Mrs. William Hoffman, Carolyn and Connie Norpoth and the hostess.

Is Being Overweight A Laughing Matter?

Not on your life. Being overweight is a serious matter, and should not be taken lightly. Just take 30 seconds to read the experience of Mrs. C. L. Weakley, 719 Lincoln Pk. Dr., Cincinnati 3, Ohio. Mrs. Weakley writes: "I have recommended Rennel Concentrate to many of my friends after knowing what it has done for me. With Rennel I decreased my weight by 20 lbs. and it has taken away that heavy bloated feeling I always had before. My waistline is 3½ inches smaller, and I'm very proud of this."

Thousands of others have overcome the social and physical discomfort of being overweight with this effective home recipe. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Rennel Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it. No diets to complicate your meal planning. No expensive vitamins to fortify your system from weakness while going without food for you can eat normally. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple easy way to lose pounds of bulky fat and help regain slender, more youthful curves — if reducible excess fat doesn't seem to disappear almost like magic just return the empty bottle to the manufacturer for your money back. Insist on and be sure to get Rennel.

WARD SKINNER KNOWS!

Yes, Ward knows that within our city there are many "breakins" now taking place. Ward, also knows that this is Halloween Week and there will be many children out having a good time — parents lets make sure that these children remain happy!! I believe it is up to US to warn the children of the danger confronting them.

Each and every day I talk with numerous women who are to the place that if they heard someone pounding on their window they might do something drastic. — Please, parents warn your children of this fact — when going to homes go to the front door, where there is light, and to stay away from dark windows. — LET'S NOT HAVE OUR KIDS MISTAKEN FOR ONE OF THOSE LAZY, NO ACCOUNT SO AND SO's!!!

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fowl, ham and pork top the list of Halloween bargains in many of the nation's food stores this week.

Loin of pork is down sharply in many cities while fowl is selling at the lowest prices in 18 years. Both items are being heavily promoted by the larger chains as "specials" for the holiday weekend.

Traditional Halloween items also get top billing. Apples, nuts and red grapes are in plentiful supply; pumpkins are of good quality and moderately priced.

Some of the more popular cuts of beef—including sirloin steak and rib roast—carry higher price tags this week. Seafood devotees will find good buys in shrimp and oysters.

Fryers are mostly up in price—as much as six cents a pound in some cities — but still represent good value. Fowl probably offers the outstanding bargain of the week. Chain stores are cooperating with chicken farmers in an all-out promotion drive which aims at cutting down the nation's hen population, currently at a record high.

With egg prices at depressed levels, poultry farmers are killing off their hens at a relatively early age and sending them to market.

Egg prices may have hit rock bottom; large Grade "A" whites are up anywhere from two to six cents a dozen this week. They're still a standout bargain.

Cabbages, onions, acorn and butternut squash, sweet potatoes, lettuce and cauliflower are also priced for buying.

Melons are available in a wide variety of flavors, colors and shapes.

These are indications this week that the general trend in food prices may have reversed itself and headed up. After declining for four weeks in a row, the Dun & Bradstreet wholesale food price ondex jumped nearly two per cent, wiping out all of the decline registered since late September.

Man Blows Up Self In Courthouse

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP) — A man carrying a box was blown to pieces yesterday in an explosion that wrecked the second floor of the Hidalgo County courthouse here and shook downtown Edinburg.

The sheriff's department said it was obvious that the box the man was carrying was loaded with dynamite or some similar explosive.

The man was identified as Henry Miller, about 60, of Realitos, Tex. Former Edinburg Mayor Chester Blodgett, who knew Miller, said Miller had threatened to commit suicide.

4 Tulane Students Put On Probation

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Four Tulane University students have been put on disciplinary probation for an indefinite period for their parts in a panty raid at a Newcomb College girl's dormitory.

Dean of students John H. Stibbs said the university's committee on student affairs would decide later on the length of the probation.

The committee also ruled that participation by Tulane students in the future in any such panty raids "may result in suspension or expulsion."

Worn out movie films are processed for the silver which can be recovered from them.

GOP Facing Uphill Battle In Rocky Mountain States

(Editor's Note: This is another in a series of summing-up stories by roving Associated Press reporters who are analyzing the campaign in various sections of the country.)

By JACK BELL

DENVER (AP) — President Eisenhower's popularity and campaign effectiveness are matched against apparent economic discontent in what now looks like an uphill Republican battle for Senate and House seats in eight Southwestern and Rocky Mountain states.

Unless intensified appeals by Eisenhower for a Republican Congress change voter sentiment in the few days before the Nov. 2 election, Democrats could gain two Senate and four House seats in these states Eisenhower carried handilly two years ago.

The eight states are Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, Idaho and Montana. All except Utah and Arizona are electing senators this year, with four Democratic and two GOP seats at stake.

Twelve Democratic and nine Republican House seats are being contested as are five governorships held by Republicans and one by a Democrat. Democrats now are reported leading in all but one of the governor contests.

Eisenhower evidently retains most of the strength he demonstrated in this area in 1952 when he swept all eight states by a margin of 520,000 votes over his Democratic opponent, Adlai E. Stevenson.

Republicans in all of these states have been leaning heavily on the demonstrated Eisenhower popularity.

But it remains doubtful whether the continued high tide prestige of the President—which isn't disputed seriously by the Democrats—can offset what seems on the surface to be a Democratic trend.

Some Republican politicians say privately they are convinced they could have pulled the situation out of the fire if Eisenhower had done even a limited measure of the kind of on-the-spot personal campaigning that former President Harry S. Truman did in 1948.

Eisenhower's eight week work and play vacation in Denver gave Colorado Republicans a lift to the point where they are talking hopefully of grabbing off a Senate seat being vacated by Democrat Edwin C. Johnson, who is running for governor.

The President's recent visit to Montana brought out about 30,000 persons. Many probably traveled more than 500 miles to look at him and hear what was billed as a non-political speech.

Republicans everywhere in the area have been drumming the refrain that Eisenhower needs a Republican Congress to complete his program. They are defending that program vigorously, although they are beset by what even they concede is dissatisfaction among farmers.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson has made frequent appearances in the area to extoll what he calls the virtues of the administration's flexible farm price support program. He has been under strong attack by Democratic Sen. Robert S. Kerr, who seems well on the way to re-election in Oklahoma.

Montana Republicans, including Gov. J. Hugo Aronson, regard Benson's appearance in that state as likely to be greatly beneficial to GOP candidates there. Benson's prestige is high in Utah and in some parts of Idaho.

But the agriculture secretary was among the missing when Republican speakers were invited into New Mexico, where Democratic Sen. Clinton P. Anderson is given the edge over Republican Gov. Edwin L. Mecham in that state's senate race. However, Anderson is one Democrat who supported the flexible support program when it went through Congress this year.

While there have been charges about "coddling Communists" in the bitter Montana senatorial battle, the Reds-in-government issue nowhere seems to be dominant. Republican Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin seems to be pretty much the forgotten man of the campaign in this area, although he evidenly has strong support in such states as Montana.

Democrats on the whole have candidates with better - known names than the Republicans, and many of the races are revolving around personalities and local issues.

Without openly forecasting an economic downturn, Democrats in all of the states have been talking about what they claim is a somewhat lower level of business, employment and farm income this year than last. As one politician put it in talking to this reporter: "Everybody seems to be getting along pretty well but thinks he ought to be doing better."

$2½ Million Silver Shipment Reported

DENVER (AP)—Mrs. Alma Schneider, director of the U.S. Mint here, announced about 2½ million dollars worth of silver coins were shipped out yesterday in a heavily guarded truck convoy.

The destination was secret because "we certainly don't want to take any chances on hijacking," she said.

Inmates Try Join Jail 'Open House'

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—It was open house at Clark County Jail and darned if everybody didn't want to get in—or out—of the act. Deputies said yesterday they found three cell bars partially sawed and uncovered a nest of hacksaw blades and crude weapons.

Some 1,000 residents toured the jail Tuesday night as part of a campaign to push a $495,000 bond issue for a new jail. Deputies decided yesterday to shake down the inmates to make sure nothing was smuggled in.

Honeymoon Trip Continuing On

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Keith and Joan McDonald, who started a honeymoon trip in March 1952 from Christ Church, New Zealand, by motorcycle, arrived here yesterday aboard a ferry from Cuba.

The McDonalds said they have covered 55,000 miles in 40 countries on six continents. They plan to continue to Miami, thence to New York, Montreal, Alaska and back to New Zealand.

WASHINGTON (AP)—One of the things Americans pride themselves on is that every man accused of a crime is entitled to a fair trial.

This works two ways, of course. Just as the trial must be fair to the accused, it must give the accusers — the government—a fair shake too.

Almost always when a cry of bias is raised it comes from the defendant. But now such a cry comes from the government, by way of the Justice Department.

The government claims it can't get a fair trial of Owen J. Lattimore, the long-controversial Far Eastern specialist, because the trial judge, Luther W. Youngdahl, is biased in Lattimore's favor.

And U.S. Dist. Judge Youngdahl, refusing to take himself out of the case, charges Justice Department lawyers with trying to intimidate the courts.

It's a strikingly unusual situation. Here is how it came about:

Late in 1952 a federal grand jury indicated Lattimore on charges of lying to a Senate subcommittee. There were seven counts in the indictment. They key charge was that Lattimore lied when he said he never had been "a sympathizer and promoter of communism and Communist interests."

Lattimore's lawyers went to court—asked that the indictment be thrown out. Their petition went before Youngdahl, a Republican governor of Minnesota until he went on the federal bench, and Youngdahl threw out four of the seven counts. He held the key charge and three others were too vague to have any legal meaning.

But he went beyond that.

He also voiced "serious doubt" in his written opinion, whether the three remaining charges would stand up in court either.

The government protested. It asked the U.S. Court of Appeals to put back the four counts knocked court did put back two of them. But it upheld Youngdahl 8-1 on the main issue and ruled the "sympathizer and promoter" charge mustn't go to a jurt.

So the government, in effect, started over again. It laid its case before a new grand jury. And early this month Lattimore was indicted for a second time. This time that word "sympathizer" was left out. Instead Lattimore was accused of falsely denying he had been a "follower" of the Communist line" and a "promoter of Communist interests."

But the government wasn't through yet. The federal prosecutor, U.S. Atty. Leo A. Rover, formally asked Youngdahl to remove himself as the judge in Lattimore's forthcoming trial.

Rover said he wasn't questioning Youngdahl's honor or integrity. But he declared Youngdahl has "a fixed, personal bias and prejudice" in favor of Lattimore. And he said this is proved by the language Youngdahl used in ruling on the original indictment.

Under the law, all Youngdahl had to do at this point—whithout going into the $4 legal words involved—was either get out of the case or dismiss the government's protest. He didn't have to give reasons. In fact, as Youngdahl himself noted, the law doesn't let him pass on the truth or falsity of such charges as Rover made.

But Youngdahl, in announcing he would stay on the bench in the trial, chose to blister the hide of Rover and—by implication—of the whole Justice Department. He said those who challenged him acted "irresponsibly and recklessly." And he declared:

"... I cannot escape from the conclusion that the purpose of the affidavit is to discredit, in the public mind, the final action of the courts, or else to intimidate the courts themselves."

Now this, if true, would be a pretty serious offense by any lawyer. But the Justice Department continues to voice full confidence in Rover. It hasn't said what it will do next. Nobody doubts more will be heard of this row before the Jan. 10 trial date rolls around.

Local Residents In OSU Pledges

Two Pickaway County residents were among the 816 men pledged by 44 social fraternities this year at Ohio State University.

The list of names and fraternities issued by Dean of Men Mylin H. Ross included Charles F. Bell of Circleville Route 4, Alpha Kappa Lambda, and Gordon G. Writsel of New Holland, Acacia.

Meanwhile, the pledging of 511 women students this Autumn quarter by 20 sorority chapters on the university campus was announced by Dean of Women Christine Y. Conaway.

Included was Jacqueline Smith of Circleville, Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Divorce Granted

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Circuit Judge Eugene Carter granted a divorce yesterday to a disappointed wife who charged her bridegroom with adultery the night they were married. Their names were withheld.

Savings Bond Sales Top 1953 By 11 Percent

September sales of Series E and H Bonds in Ohio reflected a 12 per cent decrease, compared to the same month last year, but the nine-month total for 1954 was 11 per cent ahead of last year, Judge William D Radcliff, chairman of the Pickaway County Savings Bond Committee, reported Thursday.

Sales of the two bonds in Pickaway County last month totaled $58,606, compared to $30,436 invested in September last year.

State purchases were $22,340,727 last month and a year ago in September the total was $25,127,014. Nationally, sales of E and H Bonds rose nearly seven per cent over September, 1953, and for the nine-month total, purchases reached a nine-year high.

Although the September decrease in Ohio was the third month of 1954 to show a drop, residents of the state, through September, had invested better than $25 million more in E and H Bonds then they did in the comparable period last year.

Series E bondholders are holding their matured bonds into the optional extension period established by the Treasury Department in 1951. Over $14 billions in E bonds have matured since May, 1951, but only $3.5 billion of this total has been redeemed. On September 30, 1954, the cash value of Series E and H Bonds outstanding in the nation reached another all-time record and amounted to $37,808,000,000.

Steel Firms Expect Hike In Business

Despite Optimism, '54 Earnings Picture Found Comparatively Dim

NEW YORK (AP)—Steel companies are looking for better and more profitable business in the months ahead.

But this summer's dullness has dimmed their earnings picture for 1954. And even the most optimistic expect the industry to have perhaps one-fourth of its capacity idle for some time to come.

Even the big drop in tax payments wasn't enough, in most cases, to make the July-September quarter net profits appear bright—either in comparison with the same period a year ago or with the April-June quarter this year.

At mid-year 30 steel companies showed profit after taxes trailing the previous year by 14 per cent.

Only six of the first 22 companies to report on their nine-months showing have profits higher than a year ago. Some of the six are in special fields that have been doing well, and some are located in regions where demand is good and competition lighter because of nearness to markets.

Combined, the 22 report profits down 19 per cent from the first nine months of 1953. One company—a supplier of auto companies—operated in the red this year.

But with the bad news reported and out of the way, many of the companies are now looking for much better days. Orders are picking up.

The usual estimate is that in the final months of 1954 and the first months of 1955 output of the steel industry should average around 75 per cent of capacity. The industry says that 15 per cent of total steel-making capacity is regarded as standby facilities for use in a defense emergency.

The new orders are coming from the auto makers and from other users who have cut their steel inventories down to desired size.

"Steel inventories are barely sufficient for current production," the Chase National Bank of New York notes today in its quarterly review of business. It also sees a chance that business expansion of plant and equipment—with increased demand for steel — may be revived next year.

"The long-term need for more productive capacity has not been changed by the current mild recession," the bank says, even if some industries appear to have excess capacity right now.

Steel officials seem sure that their customers are scraping the bottom of the inventory barrel. Steelmen have been saying this for months, of course, but this time they may be right.

The auto companies, with heavy production scheduled for the weeks ahead, will be stepping up orders for steel. This may more than offset the seasonal decline in demand for some other steel products, as winter weather curtails heavy construction and chokes off the need for tinplate and wire.

U.S. Steel, which saw its third quarter production slip in two-third of capacity, and its profit dip along with it, expects to operate at three-fourths of capacity the rest of this year. Chairman Benjamin F. Fairless looks for 1955 to be a better year than this one has proved to be.

Inland Steel, in the healthy Chicago area, is now operating at 90 per cent of capacity. Its earnings dipped in he summer months, but for the year so far are running ahead of last year.

Several steel companies have fired up some furnaces idle during the summer and are calling laid-off workers back to the coal mines, firm in the belief that the worst is over and that the basic industry is now on firmer ground.

There are 140 species of trees growing in the Great Smoky mountains, more than are found in Europe.

Divorce Witness Leaps To Death

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—After attending the hearing at which Marilyn Monroe divorced Joe DiMaggio yesterday, a 28-year-old mother of two children leaped to her death from the 10th floor of another building, police reported.

Officers said they learned that Mrs. Selma Leonore Silbert had made other attempts to end her life.

Negro Named Air Force General

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has named the first Negro Air Force general. He is Benjamin Oliver Davis Jr., a 41-year-old native of Washington now serving as director of operations of the Far East Air Forces.

Davis, who is the son of Brig. Gen. Benjamin O. Davis, a retired Army officer, was promoted from the rank of colonel to the temporary rank of brigadier general under the President's directive. His father was the first man of his race to become an Army general. He has held a number of high positions including the post of commander of the Lockbourne Air Force Base, Ohio.

SEOUL (AP) — Gasoline leaking from a U.S. Army pipeline was ignited by a discarded match today and the resulting flash blaze killed seven Koreans and injured 32, the national police reported.

Provoo Indicted For Second Time

BALTIMORE (AP) — John David Provoo, once a clerk in a San Francisco bank, has beep reindicted on seven charges of "overt acts" of treason in World War II by collaboration with the Japanese.

A onetime Army staff sergeant, Provoo was convicted of treason in New York in February 1953 and sentenced to life. Then a federal appeals court upset the conviction on the grounds that he should have been tried in Maryland, because he was a prisoner at Ft. Meade at the time of his original indictment.

Obituary

Amidst the beauties of God's creation, as Mother Nature is changing her cloak to the beautiful autumn hues, and the golden grain is harvested, we are reminded that tragedy lurks on every side. So it was with our departed brother, as he harvested the grain which he had so tentatively planted in the springtime.

Nelson Irvin Mowery, son of Nelson F. and Amanda Hosler Mowery, was born in Pickaway Co. Sept. 16, 1895, departing this life Oct. 20, 1954, aged 59 years, 1 mo. and 4 days.

Aug. 7, 1915 he was married to Hazel Poling, with whom he has shared the sunshine and showers of life for 39 years.

Seven children came to this household, three sons, Eugene of Dayton, George of Jackson Twp., Doyle, who died in infancy, 4 daughters Mrs. Ruth Wells, Circleville, Mrs. Pauline Cain of Columbus, Mrs. Joan Rasor of Dayton, and Mrs. Marguerite Reynolds of Yellow Bud.

The wife, children, eleven grandchildren, two brothers, Turney Mowery of Newark, Ohio, and Denver of Los Angeles, Calif., nieces and nephews are left to mourn his untimely departure.

Mr. Mowery was a member of the Order of Elks of Circleville, and the Pleasant View E. U. B. Church.

He has lived his entire life in Pickaway Co., his adult life being spent in farming.

He was a kind, devoted and loving husband and father, leaving them with many fond memories of the happiness he experienced when the family was gathered around the fireside.

His honest, kind disposition, brotherly affection and consideration of others, throughout the years won a host of friends, who join the family in their loss.

The Merciful hand of our Maker intervened, allowing Mr. Mowery several conscious hours, in which he left many beautiful statements with his family, which will be cherished throughout life, the most cherished of all, the glowing testimony of victory over death through his acceptance of Christ as His Saviour.

This occasion today bears out the lines of the poet:

The clock of life is wound but once
And no one has the power,
To tell just when it's hands will stop
At late or early hours.
To lose one's wealth is sad indeed
To lose one's health is more,
But to lose one's soul is such a loss,
That no one can restore.
The present only is all we own,
So live—love—work with a will.
And place no thought in the morrow
For the hands may then be still.

Card of Thanks

To all the many friends of our beloved husband and father the late Nelson I. Mowery, We extend our sincere and heartfelt thanks for their many expressions of sympathy. We thank all who sent flowers, the Rev. J. D. Hopper, the Rev. Jack Noble, Defenbaugh Funeral Home and the singer, William Strehle.

American League Chieftains To Vote On Future Of A's

NEW YORK (AP)—The American League became a house divided today as the club owners met for the second time in two weeks to decide the fate of their white elephant, the Philadelphia Athletics.

Ostensibly the meeting was called by League President Will Harridge to vote on acceptance or disapproval of the Athletics' sale to an eight-man Philadelphia syndicate.

It was learned, however, that Harridge probably first would call for a vote on whether to shift the beleaguered franchise to Kansas City.

On Oct. 12 in Chicago, the league approved the sale to Arnold Johnson, Chicago financier, and voted to move the franchise to Kansas City, contingent upon Johnson completing his $3,375,000 deal with Roy Mack, executive vice president of the Athletics.

Since then, however, the house of Mack, Connie and his two sons, Roy and Earle, signed paper for the sale of their stock to a Philadelphia syndicate in a deal involving approximately four million dollars. Both the Macks and the Philadelphia group are awaiting league approval.

Six of the eight clubs must approve a new owner. Any three can block approval.

As the meeting got under way, it was known that at least two clubs favored the sale of the A's to the Philadelphia group and two wanted the Philadelphia franchise moved to Kansas City.

Here is the way the clubs are believed to be lined up:

Those definitely for the sale of the Philadelphia group — Detroit and Washington.

Those probably for the sale to the Philadelphia group — Chicago and Boston.

Those definitely for the transfer to Kansas City—New York and Baltimore.

On the fence—Cleveland.

On the spot—Philadelphia.

Dan Topping, president of the Yankees and a leader in the fight to shift the A's to Kansas City, was expected to put up a stiff battle against the sale to the Philadelphia group.

2 Buck Stars Lead Big 10 Statistics

CHICAGO (AP)—Len Dawson, Alan Ameche and a pair of Ohio State stars, Dave Leggett and Bobby Watkins, top the Big Ten individual statistics' list of today.

Dawson, 178-pound, 6-foot Purdue sophomore, heads conference passers with 19 of 30 completions in two league games for 383 yards and four touchdowns.

The 19-year-old quarterback from Alliance, Ohio, however, has hurled 12 touchdown passes in five games and is shooting for a collegiate all-time record.

Dawson is a good bet to surpass the 1953 passing champion, Stanford's Bobby Garrett, who hit 17 touchdown passes in 10 games, and could approach the all-time record of 23 set by Kentucky's Babe Parilli in 1950.

Watkins tops Big Ten rushers, according to official statistics, with a net gain of 309 yards in four games. But Wisconsin's Ameche has piled up 242 in three games and has an edge over Watkins in gains per game of 81 yards to 77.

Leggett is No. 1 in total offense with a four - game net of 371 yards against 363 for Earl Morral of Michigan State and 351 for Wisconsin's Jim Miller.

Top pass receiver is Michigan State's Jim Hinesly with 11 catches. His teammate, Johnny Matsock, leads in all kick returns with an average of 29.5 yards for kickoff runbacks and 26.0 in punt returns.

Minnesota's Gino Cappelletti has the edge in punting with an average of 40.6.

Northwestern's Jim Troglio has the best rushing average with eight yards in 17 carries. Top total offense average belongs to Dawson with 8.6 per play.

Harper Upsets Del Flanagan

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—"Maurice Harper is a good welterweight prospect, but champion Johnny Saxton will beat him because Harper lacks experience."

That's the way Del Flanagan, of St. Paul, the world's No. 2 contender, sized up Harper after he dropped a 10-round split decision to the little known boxer in their nationally televised fight last night.

Flanagan decisioned Saxton, the newly crowned champion, before he won the crown.

Oklahoma Sniffs Mile-High Air

DENVER (AP)—Oklahoma's No. 2-ranked Sooners fly into Denver today to sniff the chilly, thin mile-high air before their important Big Seven football game Saturday at Boulder with Colorado's unranked Buffaloes.

The talk around town is that the Oklahomans are not taking any chances with the ever-dangerous Buffs and want to become accustomed to the climate before the kickoff.

18 Active Players Hold At .300 Mark

NEW YORK (AP)—Eighteen major league baseball players headed by Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox and Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals finished the 1954 campaign with a lifetime batting average of .300 or better.

Williams, who completed his 13th year in the big time, hit .345 in 1954 and his lifetime average remained at .348, tops in both circuits.

Musial, a .330 batter last season, lost a single point off his lifetime figure, but his .344 mark for 13 campaigns still is the best in the National League.

In addition to Williams, the other American Leaguers in the select .300 lifetime group are Dale Mitchell, Cleveland, .315; Billy Goodman, Boston, .310; George Kell and Minnie Minoso, Chicago, .309; Harvey Kuenn, Detroit, .308; Johnny Pesky, Washington, .307; Bobby Avila, Cleveland, .306 and Enos Slaughter, New York, .304.

National Leaguers, besides Musial, at .300 or higher are Jackie Robinson, Brooklyn, .319; Richie Ashburn, Philadelphia, .312; Duke Snider, Brooklyn and Don Mueller, New York, .307; Smoky Burgess, Philadelphia, .305; Willie Mays, New York, .304; Ted Kluszewski, Cincinnati, .301 and Carl Furillo, Brooklyn, .300.

Avila Labeled 'Man Of Year'

CLEVELAND (AP)—Bob Avila, the American League's batting champion, was elected the Cleveland Indians "Man of the Year" last night by unanimous vote of the Cleveland chapter of the Baseball Writers Assn. of America.

The 28-year-old Mexican second baseman batted .341 for the Indians last season.

Owner, manager and player on the Mexico City Reds in the Mexican Winter League, Avila is also a candidate for American League Most Valuable Player.

High Praise Is Heaped On Hop Cassady

CHICAGO (AP) — Halfback Hopalong Cassady was galloping full tilt towards All - America fame today while a rousing scrap for top Midwest recognition at end brewed between Cassady's Ohio State mate, Dean Dugger, and Michigan's Ron Kramer.

This area's Associated Press selection board for the 1954 All-America team heaped lavish praise on the 168-pound Cassady for his sensational play in the 31-14 Buckeye conquest of Wisconsin.

But Saturday's work of Dugger, 213-pound senior, and Kramer, 210-pound sophomore, also caught plenty of attention.

Some observers have tabbed Kramer the greatest Michigan end since peerless Bennie Oosterbaan, his present coach, was grabbing passes in the late 1920s.

Dugger was called the key defender in the Ohio State array which held Wisconsin to 87 yards rushing and held Alan Ameche to 42 yards in 16 carries.

These two giant wingmen will match talent on the same field Nov. 20 at Columbus when Ohio State and Michigan meet in a contest which may settle the Big Ten championship.

If there is a football man-of-the-hour in the Big Ten area, however, it is Ohio State's Cassady.

Oliver E. Kuechle, veteran writer of the Milwaukee Journal, offered this capsule description:

"He and he alone beat Wisconsin Saturday. He is a threat to go all the way any time he gets the ball. On top of this, he can block which he frequently does from a flanker position."

Arozina Star Nets 100 Points

NEW YORK (AP)—Arizona's Art Luppino already has accomplished what no major college football player was able to do all last season—score 100 points.

The 21 points Luppino tallied against New Mexico last Saturday gave the sophomore speedster exactly 100 according to NCAA Service Bureau statistics released today. He has five games remaining.

Luppino, who also is the No. 1 ball carrier in the country, has scored 15 touchdowns and added 10 extra points. At that rate he'll far surpass the fewer than a dozen who have scored 150 in a season of major competition.

Hayes Says Buck Practice 'Fair'

COLUMBUS (AP) — Coach Woody Hayes, unawed by honors earned by his unbeaten Ohio State Buckeyes, yesterday termed the squad's practice "just fair."

The team is in good physical shape with the exception of left guard Jim Parker, out with an ankle injury.

Ohio State was named top team in the weekly Associated Press poll and halfback Howard "Hopalong" Cassady was named the Associated Press "Back of the Week."

Sport Briefs

Hasty House Farm's Hasty Road is favored to add a big chunk of money to his imposing earnings of $436,557 in today's $50,000 - added Yankee Handicap for 3-year-olds at Suffolk Downs.

When Columbia of the Sally League purchased lefthander Joe Botelho, the Cincinnati Redleg farm club paid what may be a record price for a minor league transaction. Redleg officials declined to disclose how much money was involved. However, one official said if it wasn't a record high it was "pretty close to it."

The Pittsburgh Steelers lost six of seven exhibitions. Now they're tied for the Eastern Division lead in the National Football League. "It's team spirit," comments coach Walt Kiesling.

George Valentine, 28, has been named coach at Ashland High School. He replaces Cloyce Taylor, fired last week after admitting he gave "pep" tablets to players before important games.

Sokolsky's

Cyprus is therefore an explosive situation because the Greek Orthodox and the Communists have joined on enosis. To show how such things can develop, last August a group of 21 reserve officers from Pyrgos, in Southern Greece, marched 200 miles to Athens to deliver two phials of their blood as evidence of their resolve to give their lives for the liberation of Cyprus. Such emotionalism does not die down.

The British view was presented to the United Nations by Sir Pierson Dixon, permanent British delegate, who said:

"Cyprus is, of course, entirely within the domestic jurisdiction of the United Kingdom, and thus a territory in whose affairs the United Nations cannot intervene. We shall, therefore, oppose the inclusion of this item on the agenda, and I hope that good sense will prevail."

The British will not give up Cyprus and the United Nations will not even try to force such an eventuality because it is a fair guess that if the British showed any such intention, the Turks would claim Cyprus as essential to Turkey's existence. But enosis will not die down because the Kremlin will keep it alive. It is a way of stirring trouble between Greece and Turkey and that could be plenty of trouble.

Halloween Pranksters Starting Dirty Work Early This Year

Police, Sheriff Patrol Issue Stern Warning

Pranks May Cause Serious Injuries To Some Motorists

Halloween, bringing with it the usual array of pranksters, is practically here.

Pranksters appear to be leaning to malicious destruction of property and are paving the way for serious accidents, according to reports received by city police, sheriff's department and State Highway Patrol.

"We are going to crack down hard," stated Police Chief Elmer Merriman. "It is all right to have fun—but within reason."

The chief pointed out that the situation is becoming more serious. He explained that some pranksters, perhaps with twisted little minds, are turning to destroying property—breaking windows, upsetting garbage, etc.

* * *

HOWEVER, it seems as if pranksters are not confining their malicious humor to residential areas.

"We are getting reports of obstructions being thrown up on roads," replies Sheriff Charles Radcliff. "There is one case where a pole was thrown across a road. A motorist, not realizing what had happened, hit the pole and demolished his car.

"Luckily, he was not injured. But he was just plain lucky."

The sheriff related how reports have come in from Darby Township of street signs being altered and even bent out of position and lifted out.

"There is not much doubt about the age group involved," the sheriff remarked. "What we need to do is get the parents in here and explain the seriousness of some of the pranks."

* * *

SHERIFF RADCLIFF pointed out that the county has not had a fatal accident since Aug. 14. But that more pranks, such as putting obstructions in the road, could easily erase that mark.

"Halloween is a time to have fun," Chief Merriman declared, "but clean fun. We all pulled tricks when we were young. But we tried to keep the tricks from hurting anyone."

A report was brought to the sheriff's office that pranksters have turned to fire for their weird amusement. Several blazes in corn fields, started in corn shocks, have been reported on farms near Duvall.

"We are already starting on special patrol," Sheriff Radcliff asserted. "We will cruise the entire county every night."

The sheriff said his deputies have been put on special alert in view of the fact that the holiday falls on a weekend.

* * *

BOTH THE SHERIFF and police chief said that every effort would be made to see that Halloween passes without serious mishap.

Both also agree that violators, regardless of age, will be dealt with severely.

Warning that serious traffic accidents have resulted from what appeared to be innocent pranks, Halloweeners were advised to confine their activities to places other than state highways, county roads and city streets.

"Throwing objects at autos can be a serious offense and may cause an accident," Colonel George Mingle, superintendent of the State Highway Patrol, pointed out. "Soaping windows is one of the common pranks but even this can cause trouble if a driver's view is obstructed."

There have been cases over the state where frightened motorists have lost control of their autos or swerved to miss obstructions placed on highways and wrecked their cars causing injury or death, Colonel Mingle said.

* * *

AT THE SAME TIME the superintendent advised Halloweeners to wear light-colored clothing, carry a light or use reflectorized tape when walking along the roadway. Many Halloween costumes are of dark color and cannot be seen by a motorist, Colonel Mingle said.

"Walk against the traffic if there are no sidewalks and make certain the motorist can see you," he advised. "Parents should describe the safest routes to the children and warn them to keep away from moving traffic."

New York Firm Gets Ohio Stock

NEW YORK (AP) — Merritt-Chapman Scott Corp. now holds an 87 per cent interest in the Marion Power Shovel Co., Marion, Ohio, Louis E. Wolfson, Merritt - Chapman president and board chairman, announced yesterday.

Wolfson said the company's offer to acquire Marion Power Shovel through an exchange of shares had been extended through Nov. 15.

Jackson Jury Called

JACKSON (AP)—The Jackson County grand jury meets Monday to consider five morals charges against Sheriff David Trago, 50, father of 13 children. He pleaded innocent to all counts which involved young boys.

P&G Profit Up

CINCINNATI (AP) — Proctor & Gamble Co. made a consolidated net profit of $18,917,709 in the three months ended Sept. 30, 1954. In a like period last year, the profit was $14,245,795.

GOP In Florida Abandons Race

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — The Florida Republican Executive Committee has voted not to put up a candidate for governor to succeed J. Tom Watson, who died Sunday.

This action means the Democratic nominee, Leroy Collins, will be the next governor of the state by default.

All members of the executive committee agreed that the time was too short for another name to be put on the ballot.

New Business Renaissance Urged

COLUMBUS (AP)—The president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce urged Ohio businessmen yesterday to bring a "new renaissance" of American progress.

The businessmen were attending a luncheon of the Ohio Chamber's 61st annual meeting here. Clem D. Johnston of Roanoke, Va., the national president, said that the modern miracles of atomic energy, medical discoveries, wonder metals and man-made materials were like "Aladdin's genii, waiting in the wings for the next act in the 20th Century."
